Wilmington Relay For Life 2010 - Bigger and Better

WILMINGTON - This week is busy for the 837 participants in this year's Relay For Life of Wilmington. And for the Planning Committee, campsites are being laid out, the field marked; supplies and tents are being gathered. The event starts this Friday at 5:00 p.m. But it's all coming together with a buzz of excitement, energy and anticipation. There are more people and more teams than last year. At the final team captains' meeting on Monday night, Event Chairman Joe Martiniello reported to the group, "We are slightly ahead of the dollar totals we had at this point last year." So far the 76 teams have raised over $112,500. And more funds were being turned in that evening. Teams continue to raise money this week and through August 31.

The top fundraising teams are acknowledged at the Relay for their efforts with awards. Right now the top team is Morpho Detection, Inc. A global manufacturer of detection technology for the security industry, Morpho Detection has a Wilmington location. Their Events Committee is organizing the team under Team Captain Adam Basilio. There are 14 members. Their website points out that fighting cancer is a team effort and explains that they look forward to showing the Wilmington Community who Morpho Detection is and what they can do.

Suzanne Polizzi Newell is the current top individual fund raiser. She relays in memory of her father, grandparents, and her uncle and to honor her aunt. She says, "I never imagined my first

Relay experience would have been so rewarding and so much fun. The memory of being present at the event

Fun on the Fourth

30th Anniversary this year

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Town Manager Michael Cairra reminded selectmen and residents that Wilmington's Fourth of July Committee has published its calendar for the weeklong patriotic extravaganza.

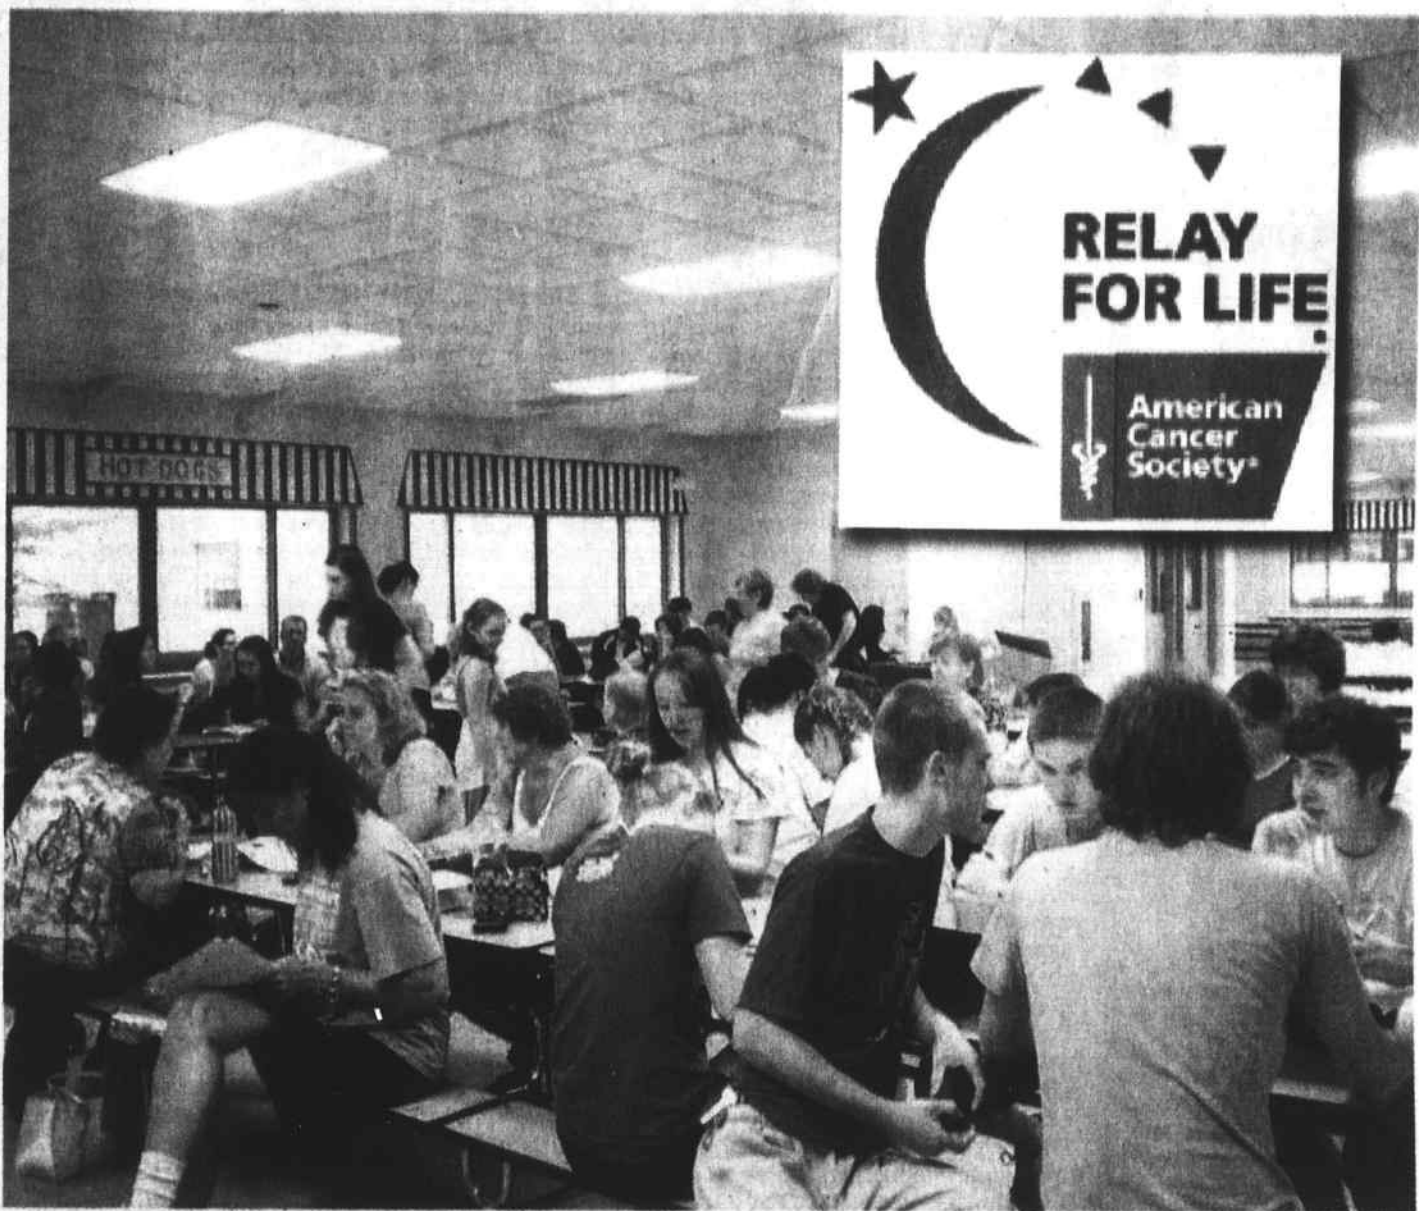

2010 marks the 30th anniversary of the Fourth of July Committee, and to celebrate the first night of festivities, June 28, will be Throwback Night where a burger dinner including chips, a brownie and a soda will cost just $2 - the original price in 1980.

The Crier spoke to founding member Joan Maga Tuesday about the history of the committee. The group Fourth of July committee formed following Wilmington's 250th Anniversary. Fireworks displays have been funded by that committee ever since.

Maga has been involved since 1975, when the town began preparation for the nation's Bicentennial. She became the chair of the 250th Anniversary Committee, which celebrated the 250th anniversary of the town's incorporation in 1980. Today, it takes a full year for the

Excited participants gather for final Relay For Life group planning

Relay For Life Team Captains and Planning Committee members held their final meeting on Monday at Wilmington High School. Gathering for the last time before Friday's big American Society event, participants received important updates on campsite details and school property rules and regulations. It was also an opportunity to ask questions and share information not just with the committee but among the teams. About 150 people attended. The Relay brings together many people with a common bond and concern about fighting back against cancer.

A look back at Wilmington of yesteryear...

The Great Depression

By CAPT. LARZ NELSON

WILMINGTON - Where does one start talking about Wilmington during the Great Depression? The day President Roosevelt closed the banks? Or should one go back to an earlier year?

The writer feels that, in part at least, the story has to go back to the first decade of the 20th Century, when street cars were part of an expanding civilization, and real estate promoters were selling camping site lots in all towns 20 or so miles from Boston that could be reached by street car.

Wilmington was one of those towns, particularly the Silver Lake area. The Pinehurst section of Billerica was similarly carved up. Real estate speculators bought abandoned farms and cut them into small lots, in some cases 35 by 70 feet. The idea was to sell three or four lots, or maybe more, to a buyer. But some people bought only one or two, and ended up with a very small parcel. Most would build cabins where they could enjoy a weekend in the country.

The Wilmington town clerk in those days was a second generation Irishman named James Kelley. He was a rather hard-nosed gentleman who welcomed the camps as a source of extra revenue. "We collect the taxes," was his message, "and Boston pays for the education of their children."

The Twenties was a relatively happy time in Wilmington. The streetcars came out from Boston and the fares were cheap. Silver Lake was sort of a Mecca.

The Wilmington farms were disappearing, one by one. Only if the farmer were able to sell directly to the consumer did he receive ade-

Lubrizol gets combustible materials storage

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Selectmen unanimously approved aboveground storage of combustible products for Lubrizol Advanced Materials after the company completed sprinkler system upgrades.

Lubrizol Advanced Materials, located at 207 Lowell Street, is a business segment of Lubrizol, Inc and specializes in manufacturing thermoplastic urethanes and resins for use in medical devices such as tubing, insulin monitors, pacemakers, and more. Formerly known as Noveon Consumer Specialties.

The flammables and combusibles license to increase aboveground storage of chemicals was denied last fall when fire officials noted that the fire protection system was insufficient. Since then the company made a significant investment - replacing old pipe, installing a 1000-gallon per-minute fire pump and installing in-rack sprinklers, Deputy Fire Chief Edmund Corcoran told the Crier.

Corcoran explained that the materials the company will store have high flashpoints, 392 and 527 degrees, and at ambient temperatures are wax-like in the storage drum.

Mary Geoffrion of Wilmington turned 100 years old on June 13, 2010. At a party held at the Woodbriar Nursing Home, Senator Bruce Tarr, showed up with a citation from the Massachusetts Senate to present to Mary at her party. Seen here is Bill Merrill (Mary's son), Mary Geoffrion, and Senator Bruce Tarr.

More and more, as campers came to Wilmington, the people of Wilmington went to Boston for their daily toil, or, in the cases of some laborers, to the leather shops in Woburn. Fifty cents an hour was good pay for a laborer, who worked eight hours a day, six days a week.

The town was quite proud of the new Wilmington High School, built in 1914. Any boy who graduated with honors was able to enroll directly into Harvard, without any qualifying examination. A few members of the Class of 1928 did just that. Of the three girls in the class, one went to Radcliffe.

Those boys who did not go on to college looked for jobs, of course. One of the best jobs was clerking for the Boston & Maine Railroad, but not everyone could do this. One who did was Clarence Putnam, and it wasn't too long before he was driving one of the first Chryslers to be seen in Wilmington.

Autos were the ambition of every boy, and perhaps for his dad, too. Maybe there was a car for every other family, but not every family had one.

The girls who did not go to college and who had taken what was called a business course in high school, got jobs in the insurance companies in Boston. The pay wasn't munificent, and there wasn't much real encouragement from the company. Their real goal was considered marriage, and why should the company waste time on an employee who was

It's Your Money by Joyce Brisbois

ABOUT "TIPS"

Lending money to Uncle Sam may not be a way to get rich quick, but you're certain to get your money back.

Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities, or TIPS, insure that the money you take out will buy as much as it did going in. These long-term securities start out with a fixed annual interest rate, just like other government securities. What's different about the TIPS is that the government adjusts the amount of principal, based on the Consumer Price Index. (If the CPI drops and it's been pretty flat lately-you are guaranteed to get at least the original value of your investment at maturity.)

Some experts recommend building a "ladder" of TIPS. You can buy five- and 10-year maturities directly; previously issued TIPS with three- and seven-year maturities are available on the open market. For safety, buy TIPS directly from the Treasury, not through a fund. Keep them in a tax-deferred or -exempt account.

What's the tax-smart way to structure your accounts? Confer with the tax people at only going to work a few years?

Today the world is filled with the plaintive cries from youngsters about "there isn't much to do." No one seems to have looked at things that way during the twenties or during the Depression years. There were movies in the Grange Hall, and a couple of hundred kids walked down there on a Saturday evening. Then a movie theater was built in Wilmington Square. And under it was a bowling alley.

This is a brief picture of Wilmington just before the Depression. There were perhaps 3,000 residents in town in 1930.

Almost imperceptibly, the world's finances had gone askew. World War I had long since been finished, but financially it was still a problem. Countries were unable or unwilling to pay their debts - all except little Finland. Gradually the malaise spread. The people perhaps did not understand, but there were firms that had to cut costs. Pay cuts of 10 percent became the order of the day. Suddenly there were no new jobs - just the old ones to hang onto.

This writer was serving as fourth mate on an ocean steamship, for $120 a month. Before long, it was cut to $108, then to $75. This seemed terrible. The mate was in charge of the watch, for $75 a month.

On a visit home, this writer spoke with a storekeeper and mentioned the pay cut to $75. He was amazed that the writer thought this terrible. The storekeeper didn't make that much money some months, and he had taxes to pay and a family to support.

Wilmington men working in offices in Boston were paid $20 a week, in some instances. They had train fare to pay, and, of course, taxes. Schoolteachers had their pay cut to $800 a year. It was a fortunate teacher who was able to live with her parents - that is, if her daddy had a job.

The school committee, not formally, but gradually, changed its emphasis in education. Scholarship was not the big thing - jobs were.

Those summer camps that Jim Kelley had welcomed became winter homes as Boston families became dispossessed and moved into their camps. Cardboard and newspapers were tacked up on the walls to keep out the winter cold. Why there weren't more house fires was a marvel.

Many of those camps have since become substantial homes. It was literally a case of people pulling themselves up by the bootstraps.

No one who went through those Depression years ever forgot them. The lessons were burned deeply into the their minds.

There was at the time a tremendous propaganda machine that tried to lay all the blame at the feet of the outgoing president. This writer feels that the propaganda was wrong in conception and wrong in application. Mr. Hoover was an honorable man and the forces that caused the Depression were beyond the scope and power of his office. He has related, with dignity, the circumstances that led to the bank closings of 1933, for all those who care to read it.

Be that as it may, the bank closing was a tremendous shock. Mr. Roosevelt took the nation off the gold standard, and that was another shock.

There were bread lines. Roosevelt formed several agencies to deal with the problems, such as the Works Progress Administration (WPA) and the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

There were Wilmington men who went into the CCC, working in the woodlands of Massachusetts. There was plenty to eat, and the pay was $30 a month. Army officers administered the camps. Joseph Beaton, later a teacher in Wilmington High School, was one of those boys. He received more than the men in the Army, who only got $21 a month.

There were a lot of jokes about the WPA - pictures of people shoveling dirt in opposite directions and asking "how long have you been working for the government?" But the WPA did accomplish many things other than the proverbial leaf raking.

It has been said that it was not fully utilized in Wilmington. Some sidewalks were built. There was a small wing added on to the Town Hall, and the Maple Meadow aqueduct was rebuilt in the Town Park. By comparison, Tewksbury got a new high school, built by WPA labor.

Edward Manning, a 1928 WHS graduate and a 1932 Cum Laude from Harvard was happy to get a clerk's job with the WPA. He worked on the aqueduct project in Town Park, where the old Middlesex Canal crossed the Maple Meadow Brook. The writer's father was the stone mason on that job. The pay wasn't much, but at least it was enough to buy something to eat.

Mr. Manning went on to be elected to the School Committee at the age of 21, the youngest official at that time. He later became a teacher, and then a superintendent of schools in Maine.

There was quite a work force on the WPA. Charles Black, himself out of a job, was the clerk in charge.

There was a committee in charge of relief, also. Postmaster Henry Porter served on that committee, along with Gardiner Ritchie and Mrs. Winifred Norton. They took their job seriously.

One of the highlights of the Depression years was Harriman's Tannery. Unlike other businesses, it never closed down. Owner Caleb Harriman was a hard and just man. He had men who had worked for him for years, like Silvine Melanson, Johnny Meuse and Aristides Brabant. They never lost a day's pay. It wasn't until the early 1950's, after the death of Mr. Harriman, that the tannery closed down.

Harriman hired a lot of young men as they came out of high school. They were strong as bulls and didn't want to work for the WPA. He put them to work in the lime pits, throwing hides. The work was hardly pleasant, but the pay was $24.85 a week. That was nearly $5 more than married men working in Boston earned. Young Joe Ring was one of those men. He was killed in World War II. Another tannery worker was Danny Gillis, later a selectman.

Caleb Harriman was rough and tough, but he was a good man to work for, if a man was willing to work. And he kept his help employed.

Mr. Roosevelt was president during most of the Depression, and he had a magnificent sense of leadership. He was able to inspire the people.

One thing he worked at was trying to stop people from cutting prices - deflation.

One of the devices he used was the Blue Eagle. A Blue Eagle in a store window or on the windshield of a truck meant the business involved was trying to help Mr. Roosevelt in his struggle against deflation.

On one trip home, the writer found his father sitting in his dilapidated old truck outside the post office. There was no work. He had just come out of the post office with only one letter. It was from the government, containing a Blue Eagle for Peter Neilson, the stone mason.

Proudly, he affixed that Blue Eagle to the windshield of his truck.

Around the Dial with WCTV

"Wise Apples" trivia team takes 3rd at Rotary event

By Lisa Kapala
When Sandra Curtin asked me to be part of WCTV's trivia team "The Wise Apples" honestly, I was a little nervous. Would I know any answers? Would I embarrass myself or WCTV? I wondered. I had further trepidation because I am also a DJ and host a trivia night myself. I have all the answers at my trivia night. For this event, I'd be just like everybody else...no answers in my pocket.

On Friday night June 11, I put on my lucky WCTV golf shirt and headed to the Knights of Columbus. The place was packed and teaming with a sense of friendly competition. Steve Bjork was hosting the event as the Trivia master along with help from Harry Cunningham - who created the event - and a slew of other good-natured folks who were selling raffle tickets, delivering

Pizzas to our tables and making sure the event was running smoothly.

My fellow team mates: Dick Grindler, Mary Leard and Bill Robert were just as eager to get the game going as I was when we started the first round. We made an agreement that we wouldn't hold each other responsible for any wrong answers so that we'd all still be friends come Monday morning. We had a strategy - win at all cost or at least be in the top five so we could show our faces in the town afterwards!

The theme for the first round was the color "green" which became apparent after the first few questions, like: what two primary colors do you use to make the color green (blue and yellow)? and What country's flag is completely green (Libya)? We were feeling pretty fine when we finished round one with something like 44 or so points out of 50.

Round two, we were told would not have a theme and I have to hand it to the people who compiled the trivia questions. There were some doozies in round two - like what do you call a one-clawed lobster (a cull)? and What is the name of the mascot in the play "High School Musical" (Wildcat)?

Round three came along and by now we knew we were somewhere near the top. We waited for the scores to be tallied and sure enough we ended up in third place with 126 points. The winning team - The Knights of Columbus team, who incidentally won last year also - had beaten us by a mere 4 points! We did pretty good for a first try, I thought.

We learned a few things as a team as the night went on: 1. always go with your first answer and 2. always go with your first answer. The night flew by and Steve Bjork and Harry Cunningham kept it light and friendly. I am sure there are many unsung heroes that made the night a success as well. You can't host an event like that without the assistance of many.

So, to everyone who was a part of the event, whether as host, committee member, Rotary Club member, question-writer or participant, I'd like to say Thank you! I had a lovely time, didn't embarrass myself, and can't wait to go again next year. And to my teammates: thank you for making the night fun and for still talking to me after I gave you the wrong Casablanca answer!

Gratitude for McGrath

Dear Editor,
I want to add my voice to the hundreds of Tewksbury residents who are expressing gratitude to Dr. Chris McGrath for her excellent leadership through the years.

As a member of the Education Committee in the Legislature, I know first hand that Dr. McGrath's professional work is well known and praised throughout the Massachusetts' educational community. Indeed, her work brought honor to Tewksbury.

On a personal note, I was always inspired by her poise and grace-under-pressure during extraordinarily difficult budget deliberations. Thank you, Superintendent McGrath, for setting a wonderful example for your teachers, students, and community.

Best wishes always,
Senator Sue Tucker

Fundraiser for gulf oil spill

Dear Editor

The 5th grade team of 5F at the John F. Ryan School held a fundraiser on Sunday, June 13, 2010 at Aurora Salon and worked with Kellie to collect hair and new/used nylons to be sent to Louisiana to help in the efforts of the cleanup of the massive oil spill in the Gulf. Teachers and students came to the salon and filled up the nylons with the cut hair from the customers from Aurora and other salons in the Tewksbury area. Donations came in to help the cause. Many thanks go to the following salons who donated hair:

Paula from Hairs the Place
Sonnina from Great Lengths
Rhonda from A Beautiful Day

Patricia from Tz Hair Salon
Donna from All About You
The fundraiser was very successful and we filled 25 nylons with hair. The website of the charity we worked with is www.matteroftrust.org. Thank you salons, customers, and students for making our fundraiser successful!

Sincerely,
Eileen Lindsey

What you should expect from the Census Bureau

Dear Editor,

The 2010 Census will continue through the summer visiting households across the country to collect their information. However, not everyone knows that Census Bureau representatives visit or call a sample of households to collect information for a variety of important surveys administered throughout the decade. In an effort to avoid confusion, I would like to clarify these operations.

For the 2010 Census, our enumerators are visiting housing units from which we did not receive a form, we did not receive a form in time to update census workers' assignments, or we received a form that requires verification. Enumerators will ask for your information even if you state that you mailed back a form in order to ensure the accuracy of the count.

In addition to the once-a-decade census, Census Bureau field representatives collect data on a monthly basis for a number of other surveys, such as the American Community Survey and the National Health Interview Survey. These surveys provide invaluable data about a variety of topics including health, education, income, employment, and disability that guide representatives of your community and organizations to make more informed decisions about vital services for our nation. Please call 1-800-562-5721 to learn if you are in a survey.

It is easy to identify a 2010 Census enumerator or field representative. He or she will have a census ID badge that contains a Department of Commerce seal and will provide supervisor and/or office contact information for verification, if asked. Field representatives have photo IDs and use a computer to facilitate the collection of data. Census workers will not contact individuals by e-mail, but may do so by phone. In addition, they will not ask about immigration status or for bank account or credit card numbers. Remember that your responses to either the 2010 Census or any ongoing survey are protected by federal law and cannot be shared with any agency or person.

Please, step up and be counted now in the 2010 Census. If your household is selected for a survey, please participate to help us collect vital information that will help your community receive its fair share of federal funding, representation, and effective planning. I appreciate your cooperation.

Kathleen Ludgate
Regional Director, U.S.
Census Bureau

Letter to the editor

Krochmal Farm's view of the interchange

Dear Editor,

According to last week's front page article in the Crier regarding the Tri-Town Development, it seems that the interchange form based code is making too many assumptions. In light of reading the code, we have come to see that the powers that be are assuming that Krochmal Farm - both in Wilmington and Tewksbury - will not be continuing with its next generation of family farming. Nothing could be further from the truth. This farm has been here for more than 150 years, in the same family for nearly the last 70 years. We plan on continuing this tradition for many more generations to come.

With this information, which is available online at http://www.vhb.com/tri-town-fbc/pdf/TRI-TOWN\_FBC\_Public%20MTG%20June%2008.pdf Krochmal Farm is slated to be an Employment Park in the Tewksbury portion (where the Pumpkin Fest is currently and where the livestock are) and a mixed-use commerce in the Wilmington portion. Are the neighbors of Krochmal Farm in Tewksbury and Wilmington ready to have these things in their backyards... literally?

Krochmal Farms has many neighbors, most of which bought homes here due to the fact that this area is considered "country" - with farming and open-space with a small town feel. Yes, there have been obstacles that we have had to overcome together - but now that we have, do we want to lose the community that everyone strived so hard to obtain?

This does in part tie into our belief that there is an alternative reasoning for the town of Wilmington to raise the value on our Agricultural property to an additional assessed value of $1,522,300.00 over a period of 5 months last year. Yes, you read it right, a million-and-a-half dollar difference in our assessed property value for a piece of land that raises cattle and crops and is 'landlocked' with the only access from our private property. We didn't get it either; that is until we read with interest the Interchange Form Based Code for the "Tri-Town Development" / Interchange.

We have a small, time-constrained opportunity here to let our voices be heard in regard to this matter. Our home's property values will diminish considerably once the first sign of construction begins. Our children's side streets and dead-end ways will no longer be "child-friendly", and the Wilmington Assessor's office will obviously (as they have with us) stop at nothing to raise your property taxes to an insurmountable amount if it is decided that you have a piece of property that looks appealing to the developers.

We are a Fourth Generation Family Livestock Farm, one of the last two in Tewksbury and the last in Wilmington.

We are your neighbors, your friends and your community. Together, we can all make a difference. This does not only affect us, but every one of us. Contact the town's planning directors in Wilmington (Carole Hamilton) and Tewksbury Community Development (Steve Sadwick) before July 20th. Let them know that we, as a community, as taxpayers, as citizens will not accept deals made behind closed doors by people who will not be affected by the outcome, except for the thickness of their wallets. Again, we have all worked so hard and come so far to keep our neighborhoods a community. Let us not allow anyone to take that away from us now.

Your friends and neighbors
at Krochmal Farm
Tewksbury/Wilmington

Debi's Dance Studio celebrates 35 years

WILMINGTON - Passion has been the driving force behind Debra Hanley-Bennett's career for over 35 years. The proud owner of Debi's Dance Studio celebrated the production of her thirty-fifth dance recital on June 15, 2010 at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

In 1975, Debi made the decision to start her own studio. Her first class consisted of 15 girls and was taught out of the former Wilmington American Legion. Fast forward thirty-five years and over 3,000 students later, Debi's studio has recently settled into the second floor of the former Sweetheart Plastics building at 1 Burlington Ave. The renovated, 3,000 square foot space serves as a testament to Debi's success in the Wilmington community. "I'm so proud of the new space. It's giving us the opportunity to teach our kids in the most fun and professional environment."

Debi's proudest accomplishments are not those of her own, but of the students that she has produced. Credits of Debi's students include dancers on Broadway, Las Vegas, and Lake Tahoe, Patriot's cheerleaders, dancers with Christina Aguilera, performances at Celtics games, Nike commercials, Spooky World performances, and USO Tour dancers. "We have a lot of talent in our students, and it's great to continue watching them grow as dancers and individuals."

In addition to offering classes in ballet, tap, jazz, lyrical, hip hop and Irish step, Debi is pleased to announce that her 36th year will also introduce her students to new classes and competitive dance teams. "Whether our students dance recreationally or study with us five days a week, they are taught with the same passion to improve and enjoy themselves. My staff truly gives 110% to each of them and as a result, students take away such confidence and sense of belonging."

Let's Hear it!!

Your Two Cents...

Thanks for including so much coverage of the TMHS tennis team this season. It's great to see so many girls have a terrific season and to hear the positive comments from Coach MacDonald. She is doing a wonderful job encouraging the girls to be dedicated athletes and give back to the community. Here's hoping that there are tennis courts as part of the new high school plans so that the team can continue to grow and succeed. We need more decent courts in town for everyone to use and this seems like the perfect opportunity to accomplish this mission.

Tewksbury

Animal lovers...One recent Saturday someone found a young dog and called police, who then called the Tewksbury Health Director, who informed the officers to have the gentleman take the dog to an animal hospital in Dracut. When does a private citizen become a transporter of animals? Couldn't this be a liability to the town? Why should a private citizen be responsible for lost animals? If no one claims this dog within 10 days the dog would be euthanized. This was done, just recently to another dog. Adoption does not seem to be an option. There was another incident, regarding a dead cat on the road. According to the report, the police again called the health director, she stated she would be out to take care of it. She called back later and said the cat was not a road hazard and it could be left there until Monday when the animal control office was back on duty (this was Thursday-the cat laid there for 4 days). Can you imagine what this cat looked like to children passing by? Reports can be found in the police reports online.

Stephanie Parker graduates magna cum laude from Boston College

CHESTNUT HILL - Stephanie Rose Parker of Wilmington was awarded a Bachelor of Arts Degree in English with a minor in Environmental Studies at the 134th Commencement of Boston College on May 24. Parker received her degree with magna cum laude distinction.

The Rev. William P. Leahy, SJ, 25th president of Boston College, presented the degrees to the graduates.

Stephanie is a 2006 graduate of Wilmington High School. At Boston College, Stephanie was in the Honors Program in the College of Arts and Sciences and also received departmental Honors through the English Department after completion of a thesis. On the Dean's List every semester for all four years, Stephanie was also a member of the Quality of Student Life Committee and the Student Admissions Program during her time at Boston College.

In a special ceremony held at Boston College, Stephanie was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa, the most prestigious academic honorary society in the United States. Annually it elects to membership the most outstanding seniors who have followed curricula in the liberal arts and sciences. The criteria for election are superior scholarship and good character. The Boston College chapter of Phi Beta Kappa - Omicron of Massachusetts - was chartered in 1970. Following careful faculty scrutiny, the very best undergraduate scholars in the College of Arts and Sciences are invited to join.

Stephanie will be attending Northeastern University School of Law in the fall to study Environmental Law. She is currently interning for an attorney at the Department of Energy Resources in Boston.

Boston College was founded in 1863 by the Society of Jesus - the first institution of higher education in the city of Boston. Today, it is one of the foremost universities in the nation, with a coeducational enrollment of approximately 14,500 undergraduate and graduate students drawn from all 50 states and 94 countries. It also is one of the nation's most selective universities, with nearly 30,000 applications for its 2,250-member freshman class received this year. Its faculty of eminent scholars is dedicated to teaching, both at the undergraduate level and in its nationally-noted graduate programs in education, law, management, nursing, social work and theology. Though it has grown in size, stature and diversity, Boston College remains focused on its founding Jesuit mission to offer students a transforming educational experience: to help them develop both their intellect and their character, and to encourage them to lead lives of faith, integrity and service to others.

Business Is Booming!! But...

Supply Shortage Drives Local Car Dealer To Pay-Off Consumer Auto Loans And Leases Early To Keep Inventory Full

WILMINGTON - Good news for people who are tired of their ride: Bill Dube Hyundai needs used cars and is willing to do just about anything to get them...including eliminating the remaining payments on your current lease or loan.

Dealers nationwide have experienced a spike in sales recently, but manufacturers have slowed production to a near standstill and President Obama's Cash For Clunkers program removed 690,000 vehicles from the road. This all means there are not enough vehicles "for sale" right now to keep up the current sales pace. One local car dealer, Scott Dube from Bill Dube Hyundai, invented a unique solution to the problem.

"Our business can't afford to wait for this problem to run its course. We need to keep selling cars this month. But with only a 56-day supply on-hand nationally, we need to do something pretty drastic. There are thousands of people in this town who want a nicer, newer car but are still making payments. Then there's me, who needs used cars. So...how about I handle the remaining payments and you get a better car right now?"

At most dealerships, the credit score matters more than the person. But our relationships with many flexible lenders allows us to match your credit application with the lender most likely to approve you...a bank that will take the person into consideration, not just the credit score. Heck, just looking at the credit scores is what got us into this mess in the first place. It's high time to put the person first, in my opinion. That's how we operate here. Scott Dube

This unusual proposal makes sense because rather than removing a car from the inventory at the time of purchase, you actually replenish the supply when you trade in. Scott Dube says that each transaction has a unique "Inventory Footprint" with some transactions resulting in -1, some in 0, and some in +1. According to Dube, "This month we're looking for 0's and +1's, which means we'll buy your current vehicle even if you don't buy one from us and we'll pay off your loan or lease early, just so we can keep our inventory from running dry."

How Long Will This Last?
When asked about timing, Dube explained, "This problem should only last about a month. I expect the supply to level out by July as the manufacturers pick up the pace and other dealers' sales slow down. But we only have 12 months in a year, and I'm not willing to go dark for one of them."

Automotive experts indicate that this inventory correction could last anywhere between 10 and 45 days. The offer to eliminate the remaining payments on your loan or lease is good until June 30, 2010 or until the inventory supply returns...whichever comes first.

A Trader's Market?

"It's a lot like a perfect storm," says Dube. "Nobody could have predicted it, and it only comes around every 10 or 15 years. Suppliers have been slowing down consistently over the past few years. But nobody expected so many sales to be made so quickly in the first part of 2010. Until it's resolved, this "perfect storm" creates what's known as a "Trader's Market" which places upward pressure on the value of your trade. That extra value gives me the leverage I need to negotiate favorable buy out terms with your original bank."

Wilmington residents are lining up at Bill Dube Hyundai to have their car loans or leases paid off early (sometimes YEARS early) and then driving home in a nicer, newer vehicle long before they thought they could. National auto supply shortages are forcing Bill Dube Hyundai to overpay for trades, resulting in early pay-offs. This rare "trader's market" will only last through the end of the month. Call or visit Bill Dube Hyundai at 271 Main St., Wilmington MA today!

The Banks Want Out

To make the timing even better, it seems that some banks are anxious to eliminate loans made between two and five years ago. "There was a lending frenzy during that time that caused many banks to make deals they wish they wouldn't have made (now known as toxic assets). Now they're trying to clean their books up...and many are more than happy to be finished with loans that aren't yet paid off. This works in your favor."

"It truly is a good opportunity for all involved: the bank gets their money, I get the inventory I need, and you get the nicer, newer car you want. There are no losers in this deal!" trumpeted Dube.

People Over Credit Profiles

"At most dealerships, the credit score matters more than the person. But our relationships with many flexible lenders allows us to match your credit application with the lender most likely to approve you...a bank that will take the person into consideration, not just the credit score. Heck, just looking at the credit scores is what got us into this mess in the first place. It's high time to put the person first, in my opinion. That's how we operate here."

What Next?

Scott Dube expects a heavy response to this offer, so please call ahead and make an appointment to have your current loan or lease evaluated. Walk-ins will be accepted, though may require a short wait. If lines are busy, please keep calling.

Please call 888-420-9697 or visit Bill Dube Hyundai at 271 Main St., Wilmington MA right away.

Ask The Dealer For The People:

Q: Who is this right for?

A: This is good for anyone who is currently making a car payment but would like to switch to a nicer, newer car and stop making his or her current payments.

Q: Will there be a negative impact on my credit score?

A: No. Your current lease or loan will be paid off and there will be no negative consequences. If anything, it could help your score because you've successfully paid off the loan or lease.

Q: What will my new payment be?

A: That depends on what car you choose next. Often we can keep your payment the same and sometimes the payment is actually a bit lower. Imagine driving a nicer newer car with a lower payment.

Q: How much will I need for a down payment?

A: There is no fee for us to evaluate your trade-in and eliminate your payments. And many of the banks we work with offer no to low down payment options. Plus my Transparent Trade Appraisal Process means you'll receive a fair, accurate and complete evaluation of your current vehicle and situation, with no pressure. You'll be able to make an intelligent decision with all the facts.

Q: Do I have to have good credit?

A: Good credit makes it easier on us...but we really need cars right now. So please bring in your car so we can have a chance at eliminating your payments no matter what your credit is like. My For The People Credit Approval Program is designed to help you get approved even if you've made mistakes in the past.

Q: What if my car is paid off?

A: Even better. Your car may be worth more right now than it has been in the past. So trading in right now could be a wise investment. This is the perfect timing. And anybody who trades in a car that's already paid off will receive a $1000 voucher to be used toward the price of any vehicle or toward your down payment.

Please call 888-420-9697 or visit Bill Dube Hyundai at 271 Main St., Wilmington, MA right away.

Scott Dube is a Dealer for the People and a Consumer Advocate. Dube is the author of several consumer guides on car buying.

Thank You - Thank You - Thank You

The Department of Elderly Services would like to thank all those who baked "goodies" for our "Relay for Life" Bake Sale Fundraiser on Friday, June 4, 2010. The donations and support of everyone involved was truly overwhelming. Our expectations were exceeded above and beyond and it wouldn't have been possible without the "Buzzell Bees" Teammates and volunteers who assisted in facilitating and orchestrating this fundraiser. Remember we still have a beautiful quilt that will be raffled off on Friday, June 18; tickets can be purchased at the Buzzell Senior Center. The winner will be announced on this day as well. Again, thank you and we hope to see you at the Relay for Life of Wilmington on Friday (Wilmington High School Track), June 18!

**Thank You - Kiwanis BBQ - Thank You**

The elders of Wilmington would also like to thank the Kiwanis organization for hosting a fabulous BBQ on Monday, June 07! Hot Dogs, Hamburgers, potato salad, brownies, punch and more were served to over 100 elders! It was a wonderful evening and a fantastic way to kick off the summer. Thank you Kiwanis for all your hard work and dedication!

Department of Elderly Services Scholarship Recipients

On Friday, June 4, at the Wilmington High School the Department of Elderly Services was able to present four scholarships from our scholarship fund. All proceeds were raised by our "Wilmington Has Talent" performance in November 2009. The four recipients were very active in our Intergenerational Programs - Amanda Barnes from Shawsheen Technical School; Sherin Chakolian, Heather Crowe, and Katerina Reilly from the Wilmington High School.

Reminder: Summer Magic Intergenerational Program

The show will keep the audience on the edge of their seats! With lots of audience participation and amusing family humor, everyone will leave wanting more. We will then be having pizza, bingo and Richardson's Ice cream! Don't miss out on this fun and exciting day. This will be for children ages 5 through 100. Cost is $6.00 per person. You may sign up at the Buzzell Senior Center or Wilmington Recreation for this great event.

New craft space opens in Wilmington

WILMINGTON - As the economy continues to weaken small businesses, several hobby and scrapbooking shops have met their demise. The consequence for local crafters: the loss of their social hub.

Without a place to create and exchange ideas, scrapbookers Julie Kelley and Ryan Koller felt a void. Like many crafters who met via their (now closed) scrapbooking stores, Kelley and Koller missed their crops - weekend scrapbooking ventures - so they decided to continue the tradition by opening a space exclusively for artists, called Late Night Croppers, located in Wilmington.

A "crop" is a place to come together and scrapbook or craft with others. Think quilting bee for paper crafts. "This is what we missed, right here," said Koller, motioning to her new space during the grand opening. Already people had taken up residence at various tables, laughing, reconnecting, and grateful they had a creative space once again. Throughout the day, old friends stopped by, excited about the new space, and made reservations for future crops.

"I come here to complete projects, which were long-neglected at home," said one mother and local Girl Scout leader. "It's too difficult to get anything done at home. This is my time to get out and do something for me."

Late Night Croppers will be opening their doors to local scouting troops, since there is now a badge for scrapbooking.

Late Night Croppers offers a clean, well-lit space that can accommodate up to 16 crafters. There's ample, well-lit parking, and an elevator that will bring you (and your supplies) up to the second floor of a 750-square foot suite in a quiet office building. The space, previously a physical therapy unit, also offers a tidy alcove, filled with scrapbooking tools and equipment for scrapbookers. Each craft area has comfortable chairs, tables, task lighting, and outlets to bring additional equipment, if needed. Restaurants are located nearby for take-out.

"We'll also offer craft demonstrations by local scrapbook consultants, birthday parties, and customized events," said Koller. "But you don't have to be a scrapbooker to come - bring your knitting, crocheting, beading - whatever. This is a space for you make art and socialize with friends - old and new."

By day, Koller is a project manager for a major medical hospital in Boston. Kelley is a middle-grade school music teacher. They have a combined total of 15 years in the paper crafting industry, and they're happy to answer any questions. Frequently, they can be seen moving between tables, in case anyone needs tips or a little extra finesse on a project.

Crops are $20, and run Friday through Sunday, noon-midnight, based on availability. Space must be reserved and pre-paid in advance. For more information, please visit <http://latenightcroppers.com/> or email latenightcroppers@gmail.com to reserve your spot today!

Locals make Dean's List at Western New England

SPRINGFIELD, MA - Daniel S. Devoe, a junior majoring in Psychology, and Danielle L. Remigio, a senior majoring in Psychology, both of Tewksbury, have been named to Dean's List at Western New England College for the spring semester of 2010. Students are named to the Dean's List for achieving a semester grade point average of 3.30 or higher.

Located on an attractive 215-acre suburban campus in Springfield, Massachusetts, the College serves 3,700 students, including 2,500 full-time undergraduate students. ## Cullity and Bailey earn degrees at UVM

BURLINGTON, VT - Some 2,411 students were awarded a variety of bachelor's degrees during the University of Vermont's 206th Commencement ceremonies on May 23. There were 514 advanced degrees and certificates awarded by the UVM Graduate College and approximately 102 women and men took the oath of Hippocrates following the awarding of their M.D. degrees at ceremonies of the UVM College of Medicine.

Patrick T. Cullity of Tewksbury received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Shauna M. Bailey, also of Tewksbury, received a Bachelor of Arts in English. Chartered in 1791, UVM was the first college or university in the United States that did not give preference to a religious sect in its charter and the first to allow women to join Phi Beta Kappa. A small, comprehensive university, it blends the academic heritage of a private university with service missions in the land grant tradition.

Hot Flash: Menopause the Musical is back!

There has been a couple of incidents in Tewksbury where a so-called contractor has knocked on a homeowner's door claiming to be building a home or putting up a fence in the neighborhood. Once this person gets the homeowner's attention, he asks the homeowner if he would be so kind to show him the lot line of his property...at which time an accompanying person whom the homeowner has not seen enters the home and steals valuables. Residents, especially Senior Citizens, should use caution when someone comes knocking at the door.

Joshua Kennedy will be back this summer and will be holding two computer classes: one for beginners; and, one for intermediate computer users. The classes will be held on Mondays as follows: beginner class from 2:00 to 3:30 PM; and, the intermediate class from 3:30 to 5:00 PM.

Due to the fact that there are only three computers for this class, the classes will be limited to 3 people per class. One may sign up at the front desk. On June 24th, names from the interest lists will be placed in a container and picked by lottery. Classes will begin on June 28th.

Seniors Citizens are reminded that a tap dance class is now being held at the Senior Center on Thursday mornings from 8:30 to 9:30 AM. For more information one may call the Center at 978-640-4480.

Due to requests, billiards lessons for women will soon be available on Monday mornings. Those interested may sign up at the reception desk. This class will be free and limited to 8 people. If more than 8 people are interested, a second class will be initiated.

There have also been requests for "acting lessons". An interest list for this activity is now posted on the bulletin board. If interested, please do place your name on the list.

SHINE Counselor, Jill, is at the Senior Center on Tuesdays and is seen by appointment only. To arrange an appointment, one may call the Senior Center at 978-640-4480. The SHINE Counselor is available to advise Senior Citizens on medical insurance options.

Baldwin shut out of State Senate race

ANDOVER - Mark Baldwin announced today that he is ending his campaign for Senator of the Second Essex and Middlesex District after being denied a spot on the ballot by the Secretary of State's office.

Baldwin turned in 540 certified signatures, 240 more than the required amount, in his bid for the open seat held currently by Susan Tucker. Baldwin filed a required ethics report via the internet. Baldwin explained, "The archaic state system encourages candidates to file online, only to demand that a receipt be printed and hand delivered to the same building in Boston." This technicality became grounds to deny ballot placement.

Baldwin's attempts to fax and email the receipt just prior to the deadline were rejected, and a subsequent challenge has been denied. According to Baldwin's legal counsel, further challenges could cost more than $5,000.

Baldwin, CEO of Baldwin Crane in Wilmington and a lifelong resident of Andover, is a first-time candidate for office. Although frustrated with the outcome, Baldwin noted, "My desire is to serve and I am confident I have the skills and experience to lead and bring necessary changes to our state. I will continue to seek opportunities to work for better, more efficient government."

10 year-old Wilmington children's author speaks at Tewksbury Library

TEWKSBURY - Visit the Tewksbury Public Library on Wednesday nights this June to hear local authors discuss their latest works. Next week's "Behind the Book" author talk features children's writers Ruthie and Jeff Baker, author of Ruthie B. Goose: Birth of a Legend. (Note: You do not have to read the book to enjoy this wonderful program.)

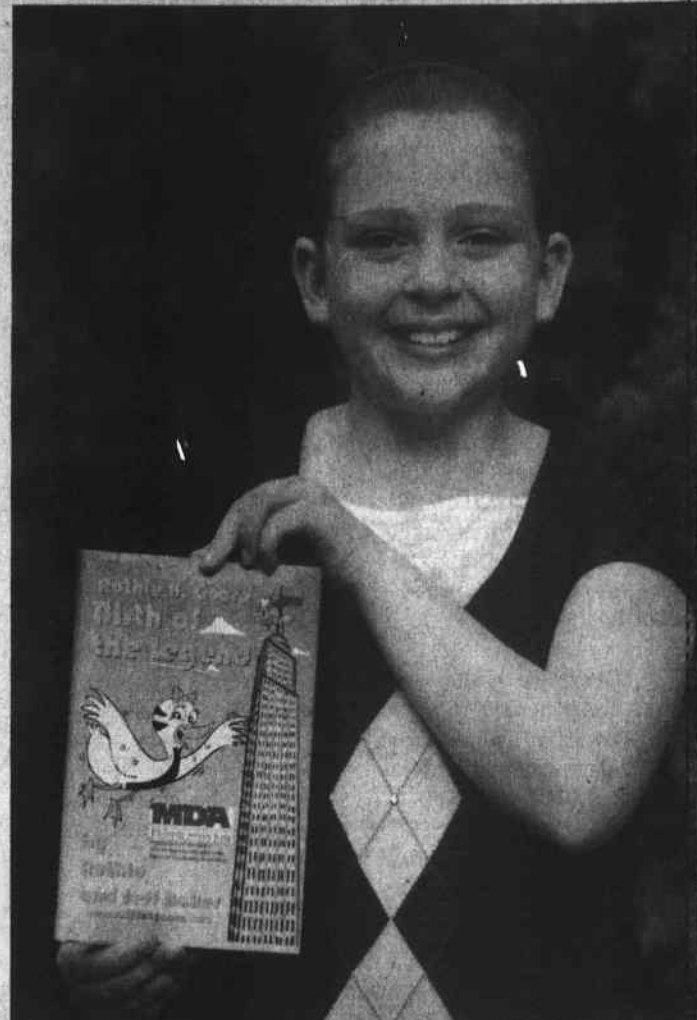

On Wednesday, June 23, at 6:30 p.m., the father-daughter duo of Jeff and Ruthie Baker will lead a lively, informative, entertaining and educational presentation about their debut novel. Recently featured in the Lowell Sun, Wilmington Town Crier, and Tewksbury Advocate, Jeff & Ruthie will discuss both the story and the story behind their story, including how and why they wrote Ruthie B. Goose. Do you know a child who has ever expressed an interest in writing a book? Bring 'em along and show them that it is possible!

About the Book: Ruthie B. Goose: Birth of a Legend (Booklocker/April 2010) tells the tale of Ruthie B. Goose as she pursues her dream to fly 37,901 feet - higher than any bird has ever flown. This fun read - loaded with quirky characters, exciting adventures, and silly riddles - is "perfect for elementary and middle school kids."

About the Authors: Ruthie is a 10 year-old, 4th grader at the West Intermediate School in Wilmington. Ruthie, her Dad and her older brother Andrew all are afflicted with Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease (CMT) one of the most common inherited neurological disorders, affecting approximately 1 in 2,500 people in the USA. ## "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the WHITE HOUSE"

Historical play at Senior Center

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Historical Society is having its last historical play this summer on June 24th at the Senior Center starting at 7 p.m. If you are tired of screaming at the White House and politics in general, Judy Bernstein's one-act play "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the WHITE HOUSE" will keep you laughing.

This performance will give you some stories you've never heard about the White House and politics in general. From George Washington to Barack Obama, the humor of being a president will come out and certainly will give you a different look at being a politician.

Any local elected official will receive one free ticket with each ticket purchased. The Society reminds people that this is a fundraiser for the Building And Acquisition Fund so that the Society may buy an antique house as a headquarters for Tewksbury history. Members and the public are welcome to this show on June 24th. Members are able to buy reduced priced tickets ($6) and the public is welcome at $8 per ticket. Group ticket prices are available. Anyone wishing to reserve a ticket may call the Society at 978-651-4966 or by emailing tewksburyhistoricalsociety@msn.com. Tickets may be paid for and picked up at the "Call Table" that night.

This is the second historical play the Society will have this year. Both are supported by a grant in part from the Massachusetts Cultural Council and the Tewksbury Cultural Council. Next fall, the membership show will be another play to start off the new Historical Society year. It is entitled "The Scot's Heather Follies of 1861." It is a true Tewksbury story and it caused nationwide attention in New York's Vanity Fair Magazine in 1862. The Society will be looking for actresses and actors of all ages to star in this production. A casting call will be held in August so watch for further announcements in the newspapers.

Benton reinstates Jodi MacKenzie

Coach gets her job back

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

On Monday morning, Wilmington High School Athletic Director Ed Harrison confirmed that Jodi MacKenzie was reinstated as the varsity field hockey coach, just shortly after being forced to resign from the position by Superintendent of Schools Joanne Benton, after MacKenzie took another teaching position at Shawsheen Tech, leaving WHS effective this week.

Last Wednesday night, about 25 members of the Field Hockey team gathered together and approached the School Committee members during their regular meeting. However, Benton politely asked the large group of young girls to step outside from the meeting, saying it was not the correct forum. There she assured the members of the team that she would set up a meeting to discuss their opinions on their coach being let go. Thus on Friday afternoon, Benton met with members of the team, while Harrison and the school's principal Eric Tracy were also in attendance.

"A few of the girls asked to speak to Ms. Benton and she wanted to hear from them," said Harrison. "So Ms. Benton set up the meeting with the girls on Friday afternoon and both Eric and I were present, and the girls did a great job, and they were very convincing with how they feel about Jodi. Ms. Benton said she wanted to sleep on it, and she made her decision over the weekend and decided that she wants Jodi back."

MacKenzie was taken back with the support she received from so many people, especially her players.

"I am ecstatic by the whole thing, and most importantly impressed with the support I have received," she said. "The kids have been most impressive, and it's always nice to hear how much I'm needed."

Before that meeting took place, the Town Crier received a number of letters, emails and phone calls from players, parents and former WHS Alumni in complete support of MacKenzie, while it is also known that a number of letters were sent to Benton's office. Benton said in last week's Town Crier that she felt there wanted coaches who came from inside Wilmington High School rather than those coaches who choose to teach in other school districts which was the reason why Benton asked MacKenzie, the reigning Cape Ann League and Town Crier Coach of the Year, to resign.

However, of the 22 varsity sports offered at WHS, only six are coached by teachers employed at the high school, and that includes Meghan Sheehy, who just took over for Mark Staffier as the new volleyball coach, it includes Mike Kinney who is taking over for Bob Cripps with the indoor track-and-field program. Sheehy and Kinney, as well as Mike Barry (football), Steve Lynch (golf), Lois Nardo (girls lacrosse), Mike Pimental (wrestling), are the only coaches in the entire athletic program, who are also teachers at WHS. Both Kevin Welch (girls tennis) and Sue Hendee (girls soccer) teach in the middle school, while the other eight coaches (some people coach multiple sports) are employed outside the Wilmington Public School system.

Benton reasoning for letting MacKenzie go in the first place, upset many people, especially the players on the Field Hockey team who were hit the most with the news.

"Ms. MacKenzie is the mother of the field hockey program and we are her children," said one player on the team. "She loves us like she would love her own. It is not right to take her away from us because she wants to take a new path in her teaching career and go somewhere new to continue her life. Taking Ms. MacKenzie's job away from her just foreshadows how the program will easily go back to square one. She is the field hockey program, she developed it into the best it can be; without her the team will suffer."

Added another player in a letter she sent to Benton: "When it comes to athletics, most athletes will tell you it is the thrill of winning that pushes them on but for the 2009 Field Hockey team those wins meant nothing without every single one of us standing on that field and Miss MacKenzie standing on the sidelines cheering us on. Miss MacKenzie didn't just teach me how to play Field Hockey, she taught me what it means to play on a real team and to be a part of a family ...

"... You may be able to find a coach with more experience than Miss MacKenzie or more state titles than her but you will never find a coach who not only bleeds the color blue but could inspire a team that everyone gave up on. I cannot say we wouldn't have gotten to states without Miss MacKenzie because the athletes that were on my team are very talented, but without her we wouldn't have had the drive, the desire, or the enthusiasm to play."

Several calls to Joanne Benton were not returned.

Harrison also announced that WHS Volleyball varsity coach Mark Staffier and his assistant Tracy Kassin both resigned from their posts, as Staffier would like to spend more time with his family. Meghan Sheehy has been named the varsity head coach and Kylie Magee has been named the JV coach, and both of them are teachers at WHS. Harrison also confirmed that Mike Kinney will take over the duties as the Boys indoor track coach, taking over for Bob Cripps who is retiring, but no word yet on who will take over for the spring team.

Look for more on both Staffier resigning and Sheehy and Kinney taking over in upcoming Town Crier editions.

Letter to the Sports Editor

Glad to have MacKenzie back

Dear Jamie:

Thank you, Superintendent Benton, for reconsidering your decision to terminate Jodi MacKenzie as Varsity Field Hockey coach. I'm sure it was a difficult decision to make, but I believe you have done a great service to the varsity team and to the High School sports program as a whole. I hope that Ms. MacKenzie will continue to be considered an asset to our Varsity program for many years.

Sincerely, Mrs. Christine Blaisdell

After 40 years, Cripps says good-bye

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Whoever thought falling out of the sky could be a good thing? Well in the case of Bob Cripps and the Wilmington High track program it turned out to be a blessing in disguise.

Forty years ago, in 1970 Cripps decided to do some skydiving. Things went well for the most part. The parachute opened and Cripps landed in one piece, so that was all good. But Cripps right foot landed in a gopher hole, which needless to say was not a good thing, and it forced Cripps, who was just three years into his career as a social studies teacher at Wilmington High to curtail his active lifestyle for a while.

That is when Cripps volunteered to help out legendary Wilmington track coach Frank Kelley during some of his new found spare time. And the rest as they say is history.

Cripps, who retired this week after forty years with the team, became a legend in his own right, assisting Kelley from 1970 until 1992 before taking over the head job for both the winter and spring teams in 1993, winning several Cape Ann League titles along the way as well as the 2008 Division 3 state championship.

In 2004, he was elected to the Wilmington High Hall of Fame, joining his friend and mentor Kelley among Wildcat sports legends.

But it all began with that somewhat fortuitously placed gopher hole.

"That was really got me started," Cripps said. "That tied me up a while and it was cross country season at the time so I asked Frank if he wanted any help and that's where it all started."

And it was a partnership that flourished right from the start. Kelley, perhaps sensing what he had in his new assistant, gave Cripps plenty of freedom to coach in his own way, and neither man ever looked back.

"Frank and I got along quite well," Cripps said. "He really let me do whatever I wanted. I took some groups of kids and so did he. In all the years we coached together we never had any disagreements. That is very rare, but that was because Frank was a gentleman in every sense of the word."

Cripps, of course is quite the gentleman himself and he has shown that in the classy way he has handled the program since taking over as the head man and he also showed it while assisting Kelley all those years.

"Bob did a lot of the javelin coaching in the early days," says retired coach and fellow Hall of Famer Frank Kelley. "He would come out to practice and watch because he was friendly with a lot of the kids, and gradually we worked him in as an assistant coach."

Long time Wilmington High Athletic Director Ed Harrison knew he had something special in both men at the head of the track program.

"Bob is a very well organized coach and he always gives his best for the school. He does a great job with the kids," Harrison said. "Frank and Bob were together for many years and they did a great job together. We were fortunate to have them both."

Of course as Cripps will certainly remind anybody who asks, he feels like he was the fortunate one to be able to coach for all of these years. After 40 years of coaching and literally thousands of athletes that he has coached Cripps still has not tired of leading his teams. That is why when he retired from teaching, as head of the social studies department back in 2003 he did not give up coaching. He simply loved it too much.

And that attitude has not changed now, even though he has finally decided to walk away from his coaching job as well.

"I have coached super kids," Cripps said. "That is probably the main reason I have stayed with track for so long is because I have always had such a great group of kids to work with."

As many years as he has been coaching Cripps can still remember nearly every member of every team he has coached from the biggest stars to the role players, but there are of course a few athletes that stand out for what they meant to the Wilmington

The tide has turn over past decade

Here's to a Happy Retirement to you Bob Cripps

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

I think it was 1997 or it may have been 1998, but in any case I don't recall the exact date, but I'll always remember the headline and this one column that I wrote that I totally regret to this day and want to take this opportunity to apologize for it, especially to Bob Cripps.

Back during those days, I was the only member of the Town Crier Sports staff. I had been the Sports Editor here for about three or four years. I was young, naive and very inexperienced, and still was getting to know the newspaper business, the people in Wilmington and Tewksbury, and especially learning how to meet a deadline each and every Wednesday afternoon.

That being said I was in the office on a typical Tuesday night and I called Bob Cripps to get the weekly updates on his WHS Boys Track Team. Upon answering the phone, Cripps quickly asked me how many meets have I gone to and I replied none, and I tried to explain to him that I was by myself trying to cover all of the high school sports teams in both towns and it was impossible. He went on to say that if and when I covered an actual meet, then he would talk to me about the team and proceeded to hang up on me.

Immediately I got angry, hung up the phone and in complete disgust I started to pound away on the keyboard, writing a totally vindictive column saying how wrong he was, how he had to grow up and respect me, and how correct I was, all the while stating that he should be terminated. Certainly I didn't appreciate his tone, or the fact that he hung up on me, but I never should have handled that situation the way I did. I never should have penned the article. What I should have done was either, go down to the high school the following day to talk to him in person and try to iron the situation out, or talk to then Athletic Director Jim Gillis and arrange a meeting so the sour relationship could turn out for the better.

I have dealt with over a hundred coaches between the three high schools we cover over my 17 years here, and some relationships I have are outstanding as some of these coaches have truly become some of my closest friends. I also have formed relationships with coaches that are strictly on a professional level, and there's some coaches who are not my favorites to this day, yet you still try to manage as best as you can being as professional and mature as you can possibly be. I wasn't professional or mature that night, or with that week's sports section. That being said, I believe that Bob Cripps feels that he could have handled the situation better himself.

The two of us have been able to put our differences aside over the past ten years or so, and give the "hello, how are you" and were always able to talk about his team or his kids without it being unpleasant. Truthfully speaking as much as that column has bothered me to this day, I firmly believe it has helped both of us grow. It helped me grow as a journalist, and I think it helped Cripps become an even better coach.

I give Cripps a ton of credit because he didn't have to return any phone calls from a number of part time stringers who have been employed by the Town Crier since that night. If he didn't return a single phone call, I wouldn't have blamed him. But he returned every single one of them. He did that because I think he realized that he was only punishing his kids who were working so hard for him if he kept ignoring our phone calls. While he realized that, I realized that I can't use my power of the pen to get back at someone just because they hung up the phone on me.

Today Bob Cripps is retiring from his coaching days at WHS. He will put his whistle and clipboard away and turn the reigns of the winter track position to Mike Kinney, and we await to hear who will take over as the outdoor coach. Cripps is a Hall of Fame coach - he was inducted years ago and certainly he deserved it. Although he may not be one of my closest friends, he's someone I truly respect, someone I want to apologize to for that unpleasant time, and someone I would truly like to wish a Happy Retirement too.

That's something I never thought I would have said say 12 or 13 years ago.

Half way there

Now that Superintendent of Schools Joanne Benton did the right thing and reinstated Jodi MacKenzie as the Head Varsity Field Hockey coach, one more move needs to be done as Chip Bruce needs to be reinstated as both the soccer and boys hockey assistant coach, and that would end his outrageous dismissal.

Here's hoping she does the right thing again, the right thing for Chip Bruce, for the Town of Wilmington and most importantly for the children of Wilmington.

Decathlon Meet

Last week several members of the WHS Boys Outdoor Track team competed at the annual Decathlon Meet held over two days at Burlington High School. Senior Caleb Rogers finished 12th overall out of 72 competitors, while Marc Shibilia (24th) and Tom Valente (44th) were the other two members of Wilmington's 'A' team, while Rich Barry, Liam Gately and Marty Bamberg also competed as part of Wilmington's 'B' team.

Rogers finished with 4,850 points. In the running events he finished with a time of 11.63 seconds in the 100, 51.64 in the 400, 19.14 in the 110 meter hurdles and 4:36.13 in the 1,500 mtrs. In the field events, he leaped 17-00.75 in the long jump, cleared 5-01.75 in the high jump, and had throws of 88-04 in the discus, 35-05 in the shot put and 135-12 in the javelin, but did foul in the triple jump.

Shibilia finished with 4,415 points and had times of 11.76 in the 100, 54.96 in the 400 and 5:44.49 in the 1,500 meters and 20.24 in the hurdles. In the field events he threw 112-04 in the javelin, 30-00.25 in the shot put, 72-11 in the discus, jumped 18-06 in the long jump and 34-07 in the triple jump and cleared 5-06.25 in the high jump.

Finally Valente finished 44th overall with 3,641 points. He finished with times of 12.55 in the 100, 55.46 in the 400, 22.46 in the hurdles and 5:30.45 in the 1,500 meters. Additionally he jumped 12-10.75 in the long jump, 30-03.25 in the triple jump and cleared 4-04.25 in the high jump. He threw the discus 72 feet, the javelin 157-10 feet the shot put 29-05.25 feet.

After 40 years, Cripps says good-bye

High program as well as Cripps career.

One of the first athletes to make a mark under Cripps tutelage was Matt Phillips in 1983 in the javelin where he won the Class C state title in the event. Cripps was coaching the javelin for the Wildcats at the time and found himself in a bit of bind headed to one of the meets. Cripps tells the story of how he discovered one of the all-time great Wildcats.

"We were going to a meet in Lawrence and we did not have anybody in the javelins so I went to Frank and said I think Matt has the right build for a javelin thrower, why don't we give him a shot?," Cripps said. "Frank said go ahead so when we got to the meet we took about five minutes to show him how to throw, and not only did he win the meet but he went on to be one of the best in the country. He was very good."

Kelley also remembered that day.

"We were on the bus on the way to Central in 1978, and Matt was a freshman. I turned to Bob and mentioned that Matt was not going to be in the shot put and long jump, and we both agreed that it might be a good idea if Bob showed him how to throw the javelin. Later during the meet, some kids came running over to me shouting, 'Matty made the finals!' Then 15 minutes later they came back. Matty won! He had set the freshman record of 139 feet."

"Then in 1983 when he was a senior he set a record of 219 feet, 10 inches that still stands today. Bob obviously did a great job with Matt Phillips. Bob also did a great job with the relay teams over the years."

That he did, starting out with the 1974 4x440 relay team, and then several other outstanding teams including 1993, and more recently in 2008.

The 1974 4 x 440 relay team was made up of Rich McCully, Timmy Nee, David Kane and Steve Cobille was one of the first to put the Wildcats on the map with a state championship that season and they also hold the distinction of earning the points that broke Andover's record of 99 consecutive unbeaten meets winning the event in a state record time to give the Wildcats a 73-72 victory.

It is a memory that still brings a smile of satisfaction to Cripps face.

"Sure it does," Cripps recalls. "But not for any resentment towards Andover or anything like that. Their coach Dick Collins was just a super guy and I will never forget that was actually happy for us after that meet for how well we had done."

There have been other great relay teams through the years for Cripps, from the 1993 All-State champion 4 x 400 winter team of Tommy Zaya, Tom April, Tom Killilea and Dan Ballou which went on to finish third in the entire country. Then came the 2008 Winter

Bob Cripps had great relationships with kids over the years, including with Caleb Rogers, the reigning Town Crier Male Athlete of the Year. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Division 3 state champions of Jimmy DiNuccio, Tom Barry, Nick Jannone and Mike Condell who still hold the indoor state record with a time of 3:28.00.

And it seems only fitting that this year's 4 x 400 relay team of Caleb Rogers, Tom Valente, Liam Gately and Marty Bamberg kept up the tradition with an undefeated regular season and a Cape Ann League Meet championship in Cripps final season.

It is an event that Cripps takes great pride in and he instills that sense of pride in the athletes who compete in the event.

"Nobody is going to make us look bad. Let's just put it that way," Cripps said. "The kids have pride in being on the team and they want to be on the relay team because it is special and I try to tell them that if they want to be a part of that team they have to live up to it and work for it."

Same of the other greats that Cripps has coached include Hall of Famer Greg Young who was an All-State champ in the 400 meters in 1995 and 1996, and Nick Farnsworth who was a Division 3 champ in the javelin in 2007 and an All-State champ in the event in 2008.

Upon his own Hall of Fame induction in 2004, Young commented on how much Cripps and Kelley had meant to his career as an All-State champion.

"They are just amazing, amazing guys," Young said. "They are two totally different types of guys and types of coaches, but they are both amazing. I will totally admire those guys forever."

There are literally too many to mention as Cripps has coached nearly 40 state champions when you include the relay teams that have brought home state titles. All of the champions, and in fact all of the athletes that have competed for him have been very important to him, but when asked to pick out a couple in particular Cripps did not hesitate in his answer.

The first name that came to mind may come as surprise to some, but not for those who know the way Cripps respects not just the results, but also the efforts of his team.

"Dan Vassallo (class of 2002) does not have his name on any banners and he never won a state title, but he is probably the best distance runner I have ever had, both for what he accomplished while in school and for what he continues to accomplish," Cripps said. "He was the only kid I ever had who ran both the mile and two mile race in the same meet, and he won them both. And now he is running marathons. He had a tremendous work ethic and that continues to this day."

The other athlete who Cripps mentioned may very well some day join Cripps as a member of the Wilmington High Hall of Fame. Caleb Rogers, the Town Crier's reigning Male Athlete of the Year will remain a fixture in Cripps memory.

"It is not because Caleb is the best that I will remember him," Cripps said. "There have been kids who have done better in the 400 or in the 800, but he is the most versatile athlete I have ever coached. If he was allowed to, he would have qualified for four events for this year's state meet, in the 200, 400, the 800 and the 4 x 400. He also missed qualifying by three inches in the triple jump and almost made it in the javelin as well despite only throwing it twice. He is a tremendously versatile athlete."

Rogers said that Cripps made quite the impact with not only himself, but coaching all of the boys on both the indoor and outdoor teams.

"Having Mr. Cripps as my coach for the last four years has been really remarkable," said Rogers. "He's a really easy guy to get along with, and having him for two seasons every year makes it easy to form a close athlete-coach bond."

Rogers added that Cripps has a very strict policy, but really appreciate that strict coaching style.

"Mr. Cripps has a strict policy on not swearing which is unlike most other teams," said Rogers. "I think this set the track team apart from the other sports and it said a lot about him as a person. He always set a good example and I think that his disciplines helped each one of his athletes in a way."

While Cripps has loved coaching all of his kids, he also has made sure that they have followed his rules to a tee. He wants them all to have fun, but if you are going to be a member of Cripps team, you will do it his way. It is an attitude that has certainly won him the respect of those he has coached.

"I really enjoy coaching but I have certain rules that must be followed, like I am will not allow any foul language," Cripps said. "Attendance is also very important. I take attendance at every practice and meet. People have not gotten varsity letters because their attendance is not what it should have been."

As Cripps athletic director, Harrison has come to know him for his hard nosed attitude and he has appreciated the way he has helped the kids on his team.

"Bob really cares about the kids," Harrison said. "He is a no nonsense kind of guy, and that's just the way it is. He is able to bring out the best in the kids because of that approach and because of how much he cares about them."

One of the reasons Cripps has finally decided to leave after 40 years with the team is that he knows he is leaving the program in excellent hands, as his assistant, Mike Kinney will take over the reigns of both the Winter and Spring teams.

"Mike is well qualified," Cripps said. "He is a top notch coach and I am confident I am leaving the team in excellent hands."

And now that he is retired Cripps will finally have some of that spare time back in his life. And while it is doubtful he will take up sky diving again, he does plan on enjoying his extra time with his wife of 36 years, Sande as well as his dog. But he will miss being a part of the Wildcats, and he will always look back on his days as a coach fondly.

"Well, I will probably take the dog for two walks a day now instead of just one," Cripps joked. "Really, I have not gotten into exactly how I feel, but I know I will miss it. You do not stop doing something after 40 years and not miss it. And it was a job I loved doing."

Moriarty ready for Shriner's Game

By JOSH VOTO
Sports Correspondent

For over 30 years the Shriners All-Star Football game has pooled together some of the most impressive talents throughout Massachusetts to take to the field and showcase their ability to play football. The Shriners All-Star Football game serves as a way to raise funds for the 22 Shriners Hospitals for Children, as well as to raise awareness of the many free health care rehabilitation treatments offered to the children and families at the hospital.

On Friday June 18, at 7 pm, a local athlete will take to the field at Gillette Stadium in the 32nd Shriners All-Star Football game to demonstrate his talent. John Moriarty, who was a two-way lineman this fall for the Wilmington High School Football Team, was one of the few high school students in the area to be selected to play in the elite tournament.

Moriarty was extremely happy to have been selected to play in the highly respected game.

"It was great to be selected," the recent WHS graduate said. "I knew it was a huge game. I was really excited."

His high school coach Mike Barry, believes that Moriarty is a strong football player and deserved the chance to play in the Shriners All-Star Game.

"John is just a great kid," said Barry. "He is a top student in the class, and a great member of my team. He has really earned that spot in the game. He's so hard working."

This year, 101 top football players throughout Massachusetts are offered the chance to play at Gillette Stadium to showcase their talents and abilities on the field. The selected athletes are broken up into two sides; the North and the South. The North and South rosters present profound players taking part in the game. These big names include Boston Globe Players of the Year Brendan Burke of Austin Prep, Conor Ressel of Gloucester High School, Chris Splinter of Masconomet, and Ryan Izzo of Walpole High School.

Moriarty is happy to represent Wilmington High School in the game. He is also happy to showcase his talents to the many fans that will be in attendance.

"It's a big game for me," said Moriarty. "The Shriners game will be a huge honor to be a part of. It's also for such a great cause. I'm really happy to get the chance to play in front of a big crowd at Gillette Stadium too."

Prior to the game, the Shriners Parade will take place. It will start in the West Club Lot of Gillette Stadium, and it will finish at Patriot Place Plaza. Barry is also looking forward to the festivities. He mostly looks forward to his star player Moriarty playing in the game.

"I am extremely happy he was selected for the game," explained Barry. "It's the top kids from Massachusetts. John is 6'3" and 240 pounds. He is extremely effective on both offense and defense. John was named Cape Ann lineman of the year, as well as a Lowell Sun All-Star. He really deserved a spot in the Shriners All-Star game this year. I look forward to seeing him play."

Both teams will be coached by an elite lineup of coaches throughout Massachusetts. The all-stars will be under direction of Coaches-of-the-Year Paul Ingram of Gloucester High School, Don Heres of Northeast Regional High School, Charlie Stevenson of Xavarian High School, and John Sousa of East Boston High School.

This year, the Shriners All-Star Football Game proves to be an extremely great competition full of talent from all around Massachusetts. Moriarty was happy to have been included in the roster, and he believes it will help him to take part in such an elite showcase of skill.

"We've been practicing with our team over the last few days," explained Moriarty. "The kids are really good at football. They're really good kids too. I've definitely made a few friends."

Next year, Moriarty will be playing college football at the University of St. Thomas, a strong Division 3 Football Program in Minnesota. He will be majoring in engineering.

"I'm really look forward to it," he said. "I started playing football when I was 12. Over the years I've been able to get better. Now I have the opportunity to play in college, and I'm excited."

Moriarty believes the last four years have contributed to his success on the football field. He believes that he has grown as a player throughout his time with the Wildcat Football program.

"These last four years have helped me a lot," said Moriarty. "My coach Mike Barry has worked with me to make me an all around better player. He's taught me the footwork and the proper way to play at my position. I was happy this year to captain my team and play good football too."

Over the last 32 years, the Shriners All-Star Football Game has helped over 835,000 children. It is a wonderful chance to support people who suffer with various illnesses and deformities. It is also a chance to raise awareness of the struggles that take place each and everyday in a hospital such as Shriners.

Above all, Moriarty will wake up Friday morning excited to take part in this extraordinary event. He will have the opportunity to take the field with some of the most impressive players throughout Massachusetts. He will get the chance to represent his hometown of Wilmington, as well as fight to fund the many operations that are necessary each year to help the unfortunate children who need the operations.

"John Moriarty is not just a great football player," explained Barry. "John is a great kid, and a hard worker both on and off the field. He's been a pleasure to coach, and I'm sure he'll have a good future ahead of him at St. Thomas next year. He's the best player that I've had the pleasure to coach."

Tickets to the Shriners All-Star Football Game are attainable through Aleppo Shriners (978-657-4202), at any Ticketmaster outlet, or at the Gillette Stadium Ticket Office at $15 each.

Bonnell wins latest WCF match

By MIKE GIANNATTASIO
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington resident Dan Bonnell was one of 18 fighters to participate in the 2010 World Championship Fighting event this past Friday at the Shriners Auditorium.

The night included nine action packed fights, and many people in attendance said it was the most entertaining event World Championship Fighting has ever had.

Many of the fights went three rounds while some only took a few minutes. There were a couple knock-outs as well, so the event kept everyone at the edge of their seats.

Bonnell defeated Christian Rivera via submission during the first round in 1:58. Bonnell, 30, has been fighting since 2006 and trains in Renzo Gracie, NH.

Bonnell came out swinging against Rivera and had him to the ground early. Rivera was tough, but Bonnell took him down to the ground again. Bonnell landed multiple punches to Rivera throughout the fight.

At one point during the match, Rivera attempted to get to his feet, popped his head up and Bonnell jumped to guard and slammed him to the ground.

Bonnell has always been considered one of the top ten featherweights around the area, but plans to concentrate more on promoting for the New Hampshire based Global Fight League in the future.

All of the fights were great to watch. Noah Weisman defeated Luis Felix via TKO during round three in 1:34. Anthony Kasponis beat Stephen Strengel via TKO in round 1 as did Buster Crandall against Christopher Madden.

Both Joel Ly and Robbie Roberts defeated their opponents via submission (triangle). Ly won against Billy Walsh while Roberts beat out Dan Jennings. Lee Emmitt won against Thomas Roy Gossler via unanimous decision (30-27, 30-26, 30-26). Josh Mellen defeated Shawn Baker via submission (triangle) during round 1 at 3:01. Buster Crandall defeated Christopher Madden via TKO in round 1 at 4:31. Jarrod Johnson won versus Steve Beck via submission (rear-naked choke) in round 1 at 2:43.

These guys made Track History in the Spring of 1974

By: Rick Cooke

The following column is taken from the book 'Our Mr. Kelley - A Lifetime of Coaching and Caring' - available at www.harvard.com beginning in October. Check frankkelleybook.com for information regarding the book and the exact release date.

Andover High School had won 93 meets in a row - not having lost in 11 years - but this would be Wilmington's day as Frank Kelley's spring track team, sparked by some big victories in some key events, toppled coach Dick Collins' vaunted Golden Warriors, 74-73 back in the spring of 1974. The Wilmington Town Crier called the victory the 'upset of the decade.' There were only a handful of people in town who knew the real identity of this 'reporter' for the newspaper. It was Kelley, banging away on a portable typewriter in a study hall at Wilmington High School. He would walk down the hallway and hand his copy to WHS industrial arts teacher Bob Dicey, who made sure that the story appeared prominently in what was then a tiny section of the newspaper. Hugh Wiberg snapped all of the action-packed photographs, and the rest was Wilmington High School track history.

Members of the 1974 Wilmington High School spring track team included Rick McCully, Doug Spring, Ian MacInnis, Doug Stewart, Gordie Fitch, Bob Reid, Paul Fitch, Mark Blaisdell, David Spring, Dana Roueche, Bruce Bishop, Paul Reed, Tim Nee, David Cain, Steve Coville, assistant coaches Bob Cripps and Bob Racioppi, along with head coach Frank Kelley. The team stopped the 11 year unbeaten string of Andover High School with a stunning one-point victory in 1974. (courtesy photo).

Racioppi's plaid slick-slacks were the style of the day. Kelley's jump-for-joy (with a little help from his team) reaction would be the style of that spring season.

Fourteen boys would contribute to the upset that would help the team complete a perfect 9-0 dual meet season. The Wildcats took a 9-0 lead into the long jump that was swept by Dana Roueche, Doug Stewart and Paul Fitch. Tim Nee jumped 5'10" in the high jump - his best effort of that season. Stewart, a hall of famer and one of the best athletes in WHS' history, scored a 43'3" in the triple jump - a school record. After six events the score stood at 27-27. Kelley knew that it would come down to just how his collection of gold-standard track athletes performed over the final events.

"Some kids on that team had been with us for three or four years and were exceptional athletes. They were a good group, willing to work hard and we had good versatility. And, I would consider Doug Stewart to be of the top dozen athletes that I ever coached at the high school."

Wilmington was strong in the sprints and the hurdles, with Andover getting top performances in the distance events.

Junior Rick McCully would set a school record with 15.0 time in the 440 high hurdles, while fellow junior Don Capone surprised with a 15.7 time and a third place finish in the same event. Kelley would later call Capone's effort one of the keys to the victory. "If Andover gets those two third places, Andover wins the meet," recalls Kelley. "Don's third place was very big for us. The kids had given him the nickname 'snowshoes' - I guess they thought that he had big feet." Those big feet would help Capone to go down as very big name in Wilmington High School track history.

Bruce Bishop, according to his coach, ran a 'very respectable' 10.5 in the 100 yard dash, while Ian MacInnis broke the school record with a 4:37 in the mile, although he finished third and was not able to overcome the effort put forth by Andover's Greg Brown over the final 300 yards of that race. At this point in the event, there was a mistake that could have cost Wilmington the meet. 'Reporter' Kelley sent this copy to the Town Crier.

"A missed hand-off in the 880 relay resulted in a disqualification, as the baton exchange was completed beyond the legal exchange zone."

What Kelley doesn't mention in his story, was that freshman Gordie Fitch was running that day with his broken right arm in a cast. Bruce Bishop tried a hand-off that clanged off Fitch's cast, and the baton fell - but not the Wildcats hope of an upset. Fitch was feeling badly after the event, telling his teammates that he had blown any chance of a Wilmington victory. "I told him not to worry, that we would get those points back somehow," remembers Kelley. Kelley was in the coaching moment, later he would bang-out those final two paragraphs for the newspaper.

"Now it was Wilmington's turn to go to its' strength. Doug Stewart became the second fastest 220 man in the school's history - second only to Mike Esposito, as he flew the furlong in 22.4. Paul Fitch was overhauled by George Stedman 50 yards from the tape, but still took third place. Again it was Andover's turn. Doug Stewart and Dave Pratt battled tooth-and-nail for the first mile (sub 4:55) in the grueling two-mile before Pratt's strength earned a 20 yard victory. Mark Blaisdell's tactics paid off with a personal best 10:53.4 and third place. Andover 71 Wilmington 69."

"The mile relay - everything was on the line. Ninety-three victories and 11 years were pitted against Wildcat tenacity. Andover miler Greg Brown took the lead and held on for 380 yards. Tim Nee's late charge passed Brown and presented number two man Greg Spring with a three yard lead. Dave extended the margin to 10 yards, making a solid pass to Dana Roueche to send him away winging."

Kelley and Andover's Collins stood arm-and-arm watching that final relay. Kelley remembered that Collin's Golden Warriors just six seasons earlier handed the Wildcats a 109-5 shellack-

ing. Realizing that his team would clinch a victory after that final event, Kelley was into the moment - with reservations, as he team lifted him skyward and carried him off the Andover High School track.

"I probably said to the team - 'put me down - put me down!' - but I probably weighed a lot less back then," says Kelley. It was Collins who left that Wilmington High School team with a lovely parting gift that afternoon in Andover.

"Dick immediately said to me that he would like to come on the team bus if I didn't mind. After all of the kids had piled on the bus, I said - Mr. Collins' teams have won 93 meets in a row and he has something that he would like to say to you. Then a voice came from the back of the bus. 'Not anymore.' Dick just smiled and the kids gave him a three-minute standing ovation."

The Andover coach then waited for the cheering to stop and said - "I knew that we were going to have to lose

WHS Sub-Varsity Sports Round-Up JV Girls Lacrosse team nets eight wins

By MIKE GIANNATTASIO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High School JV Girls Lacrosse team played very consistent all season long. The team finished with a record of 8-8-1, and part of their success was the tremendous defense the team played in each and every game.

Maureen O'Mara was the coach of the team this season, and she had lots of success in her first season. When the team was without a JV coach late this winter, she was interested after coaching field hockey for numerous years and having some exposure to lacrosse.

"I had the privilege to coach a great group of girls," said O'Mara. They worked hard, were supportive of their teammates and were not afraid to be assertive when they needed to be. Given that I hadn't coached lacrosse before they were patient and supportive of me while I got my bearings at the beginning of the season. Most important, they were not afraid to be themselves and they kept me laughing all season long."

O'Mara added that WHS varsity girls lacrosse coach Lois Nardo was very supportive of her.

"Her knowledge, dedication, and ability to have and maintain a tremendous amount of energy and enthusiasm all helped me to be able to better lead the JV team," said O'Mara.

Great contributions were made by players on both sides of the field. Offensively, sixteen different players scored throughout the season with five players scoring more than ten goals each.

Ryan Gautreau, a tremendous player on both sides of the field, led the team with 17 goals. Nicole D'Agostino scored 16 times including three games in which she scored a hat trick in each against Burlington, Woburn and Newburyport.

Twelve goals were scored by Kristyn Callahan, while playing consistently at mid-field and by Hayley Robarge who played key roles both offensively and defensively.

Courtney Collins scored ten goals this season as her solid play at center allowed for the squad to find its way successfully toward the net.

Cassy Lee, Ashley DeFuria, Jenna Whooley, Caileen Cadogan, Kaitlyn McGuire, Jess Weaver, Janelle Celeste, and Kristin Esdale found themselves contributing to the scoring efforts of the team with Kassie Madore, Elaine Miranda and Melissa O'Donoghue.

O'Donoghue unfortunately spent most of the season injured but was a huge help in a managerial role helping to create other opportunities on offense.

The defense was led by Courtney Cavanaugh, and Emily Colosimo, who also contributed four goals and led the team in assists with five. Katie Kurowski, Kim Nasiff and Ryanne Newhouse; also found the net this season, often running the ball all the way up the field.

Solid defensive contributions were also made by Kiley Burke, Megan Priem, Amie Serino and Mary To.

The team's successes are also contributed to the strong play of Emily O'Donoghue and Casey Herra who split time in the net. They were the eyes and ears of the field and were very valuable assets to the JV team. O'Mara said the season was filled with great moments.

"There are two games that stand out - Pentucket and Newburyport," said O'Mara. "Pentucket is a very strong program and they had a two goal lead heading into the second half. With less than five minutes to go, the game was tied. The ball was moved up and down the field by both teams but the tie remained."

O'Mara added that the team progressed from their first game to their last.

"The team really improved through the course of the season in its passing, spreading the field and working together to find effective ways to move the ball around the field."

The juniors on this year's team were Kristyn Callahan (midfield), Nicole D'Agostino (attack/midfield), Kaitlyn McGuire (attack/center), Kim Nasiff (defense), Emily O'Donoghue (goalie), Hayley Robarge (attack/defense), Jessica Weaver (attack), and Jenna Whooley (attack).

The sophomores include Caileen Cadogan (attack), Courtney Collins (center), Courtney Cavanaugh (defense), Kristin Esdale (attack), Katie Kurowski (defense), Cassy Lee (midfield), Kassie Madore (attack/midfield), Ryanne Newhouse (defense), and Mary To (midfield/defense).

JV Boys Lacrosse

The WHS boys' lacrosse team finished this season with a record of 8-8. David Sundberg coached the Wildcats this season and he said the team improved in every game.

"The JV team believed in a team philosophy and the big improvements made throughout the season were that of understanding the game from that team mentality," said Sundberg, who coached the Wildcats for his first season. "They started to realize that it wasn't just one man that was going to make the difference."

"If they settled it down and ran our motion offense the defense would be confused and we would be successful, but if they tried to go against it alone they would fail the same thing. With the defense the games we started to play really well at the end were when everyone started to communicate and play together as a unit."

Sundberg added that he enjoyed coaching the squad this season.

"It was great with the ability to work with a group of players at the end of the year that were coachable and enthusiastic about the game," said Sundberg. "It was also great to learn a lot about the game and coaching from a great coach and person in (WHS varsity boys' lacrosse coach) Mike Fay as well as some great help from some great parents that helped out all season."

The team had many memorable games this season. Their best was the last game of the season against Newburyport. The Wildcats were behind late but instead of quitting and giving up they came back to tie the game with 30 seconds left and then won 31 seconds into overtime.

Sundberg said he is looking forward to coaching the team again next season.

"This is a very good core group of younger players that could have a great career at WHS if they continue to play in the offseason and commit to being successful," said Sundberg.

The roster for the team included players Brendan Ahern (defense), Tom Broman (attack), Jack Campbell (defense), John Cimenno (attack), Stan Dancewicz (goalie), Dylan DiNatale (attack), Troy Homola (attack), Ryan Kennedy (attack), Justin MacKinnon (midfielder), and Tim Masiello (defense).

Other players were Andrew Morris (midfielder), Matt Palermo (midfielder), Arthur Papastathis (attack), Brian Pickett (attack), Ryan Conor (attack), Adam Siegel (midfielder), Mike Silva (midfielder), Dan Sullivan (midfielder), Robert Sutera (defense), Tyler Trites (defense), Blake Walker (attack), and Brandon Wong (midfielder).

JV Girls Softball

The WHS girls' softball team finished the season 7-13, but their record does not indicate how hard the club played.

The Wildcats lost a few games by one or two runs. Marcia Jones has been the JV softball coach for three seasons and she said that the club gave an amazing effort this season.

"The entire team performed well but what I like the most was seeing the girls that struggled at bat get hits and then seeing the ones that struggled in the outfield make the great plays," said Jones. "They made some awesome double plays that no other JV team was making this year and the pitching was incredible."

One of the best moments of the season came when player Jenny Garrard hit a home run against Shawsheen and Kim Woods hit one against Newburyport. Another great memory was at the end of the season when the entire team came to the varsity games and rallied behind them.

Jones said she was honored to coach the girls this season.

"The girls are all great and are like one big family," said

Jones. "All of them brought not only a lot of talent to the team but great sense of humor."

"They could see the bright side of any situation and they kept me laughing the entire season. I wish them all the best next year and hopefully will see them on varsity."

The juniors on the team was Jenny Garrard (3B). The sophomores on the team were Caitlyn McDonough, Gillian Hery (1B), Kelley Wilcox (3B), Kelly Cassidy (C), Nicole Lunt (P), Stephanie Tran (SS), Alyssa Cappuccio (LF), Robin Hollenbeck (CF), Lisa Marie DiOrto

(OF/2B), and Lauren Sullivan (OF).

The freshmen on the team were Jackie Kennedy (2B), Casey Murray (P), Jackie Parece (2B/SS), and Kim Woods (RF).

Freshmen Girls Softball

A team is bound for success when each and every player contributes throughout the season. This was the case with the Wilmington High School freshmen girls' softball team, who finished the season with a record of 12-2.

The head coach of the team,

These guys made WHS Track History in Spring of 1974

sometime, and I was hoping that it would be to a good team-and you are a very good team."

Kelley really cut his coaching teeth with his track teams from 1972-75, culminating with that upset of Andover and a performance for the ages in the Merrimack Valley Conference.

Track Championship run in the spring of 1974. It was in that season that Kelley arguably had his best collection of athletes, and one of the leaders of that talented bunch of Wildcats was McCully. It was Kelley's response to a potential event-altering decision that will stick with the talented McCully for the rest of his life.

"I remember my freshman year (1972) on the spring track team, and how far behind we were after the field events against Andover High School. They swept the points in several events and we always forfeited in the javelin, because Mr. Kelley had seen someone get hit with one in a meet, and he didn't think that it was worth taking the risk with that particular event. But, by the spring of 1974, he knew that we couldn't afford to give away any points if we were going to compete with the good teams. Gone were the days of being crushed before we even got started. Finally, David was able to defeat Goliath-and Andover-even if it was only by one point. And, that one point came when we won the final event-the 4x440 relay."

It was that season that Kelley would be carried off the track by his upstart Wildcats. The photo in the Wilmington Town Crier became an instant classic-a timeless snapshot for the ages. Kelley was smiling and riding his way into Wilmington High School history.

Wilmington had won a title the only way that Kelley knew how. He would do what he thought was best for his young student athletes-even if it meant defeat and a shot at the top had been wasted. There could be no other way. If McCully and his teammates didn't realize just how life-altering some of Kelley's coaching decisions were then they most assuredly know how important they all were now. Kelley never thought twice. The physical condition and the psyche of his team would always come before any possibility of defeat. And, sometimes Kelley knew that there was only so much any young person could learn from defeat.

Do it the right way, and you would feel so much better afterwards- even if you suffered that season-ending setback. McCully, after many years of thought, knows that his coach made the right call at a time when it would have been so much easier to go the other way and throw all caution to the wind in search of a 'W'.

"At the end of that 1974 season, we competed in the Class D Championship Meet, which we all knew that we had a pretty good shot at winning. When Mr. Kelley went to the seeding meeting, he found out that we were being moved up to Class C because we were one student over the cutoff limit (490 students were allowed in grades 9-12, and WHS had moved up to 491). We were able to win the Class C Championships that year, largely on the strength of winning both the 4x220 and 4x440 relays-an unusual achievement because most schools didn't have the depth to field two good relay teams."

"At the seeding meeting for the All-State State Championship Meet the following week, Mr. Kelley again entered both relay teams-this time in the biggest meet of the year. Other coaches advised him against it, suggesting that we might be able to win one of the races if we loaded up in that event. Mr. Kelley never considered doing that because it would mean that four of our runners that had been such an important part of getting us to that point would not be able to run in the meet. That's Mr. Kelley. He never put winning ahead of doing what he thought was right. As it turned out, we saw Brockton High School win that meet, and at the time there were many people that thought we had no shot at competing in a meet with the sixth largest high school in the country."

Kelley not only surprised everyone by leading his team to a tight battle with a perennial track powerhouse, he made his mark with so many coaches, all of whom might have been second-guessing themselves for past decisions made for the sole purpose of moving up a couple of places in the track pecking order. Kelley went the in the other direction-and still came close to scoring another major upset.

"Our 4x440 relay team finished with the same time as Peabody High School in that final," remembers McCully. "We were nosed out in a photo finish and settled for second place. Meanwhile, Brockton had a series of injuries to several of its runners. With one event-the 4x440 relay-left in the meet, Dracut coach Dave Stecchi said to me-'you know, if you guys win the relay, you will win this meet.' I thought that was impossible-Brockton must be way ahead by now. But Stecchi was right. Our guys ran great, but lost the race to Reading by two-tenths of a second. We finished second to Brockton in that meet by one point. If Mr. Kelley hadn't run both relay teams, we would never have gotten that shot at winning the State Meet. That was Mr. Kelley-teaching us a life lesson, not about winning, but about doing what's right-even when we were too young to realize it."

Yet, that decision almost paid off in a very big way. Everyone participated-and everyone almost made history together. Even when the Wildcats were struggling against the big boys year after year, Kelley was always upbeat as long as he knew that every athlete was out there trying to better individual performance marks.

Because Kelley knew that a lot of winning had to do with attitude based not, on some score-but on doing your best. That year, the best of many individuals just happened to be at a championship level. And, Kelley was right there doing it the right way. Finally, he would have that classic coach-being-carried-off-the-field snapshot to add to an ever-growing collection of memories.

The Class C Champions went on to that All-State Meet at UMass-Amherst, where they dropped that tough-to-take 18-17 decision to the big boys from Brockton. To this day, Kelley regrets a decision that at the time he thought was based on some rather logical prognostication.

"The more I look at it, the more I think that I lost the meet. We could have won. If I had any brains I would have put Doug Stewart in the triple jump. I put him in the long jump and he got a third. Doug was an excellent triple jumper, and at one of our earlier meets that season, I talked to the Lunenburg coach, who was a former triple jumper in the Olympics, and I asked him to look at Doug. Doug was jumping 42' and 43', which is pretty good, and this coach looked at him, and said that his hop was too high, that it takes everything out of his legs. I corrected that with Doug, but that year was the first year that they had the triple jump in the All-States. If I had put Doug in that triple jump we might have won. That was a second guess. I second guess myself. I do that a lot."

The price he would have to pay for helping an athlete to a personal best was again to review just how a particular athlete got to the highest level of competition. What would make that youngster better? In this case, Coach Kelley was more than willing to admit that he made a mistake. There would be some tough luck involved in this All-State Meet. An injury caused by a 'fun' tradition helped Kelley to rethink yet again, learning that even some fun can lead to an unfortunate result.

Bob Reid, the team's solid shot-putter, finished seventh thanks largely to a pulled hamstring he suffered earlier in the week, running in something called 'the weight man relays.' In some meets, the 'heavy guys'-like shot putters and discus runners would team up to run relay races against the opponent. A non-scoring event that was designed to placate any desire that a large man might have that he could roar down the lane in a 50-yard-dash. "Well, Bob pulled a hamstring doing this. I have never run a 'weight-man's relay since,' offered Kelley. "I'm sure that he could have finished fifth if not for that injury." So much for 'a little fun' for the kids.

Brockton won the javelin, shot put and the high jump to put away the meet. "I remember a fellow from a newspaper asking me-'are you going to do it? - are you going to win the whole thing?' I said-are you kidding me? I didn't think that we had a prayer in that meet."

Doug Stewart, Reid and Bishop all had graduated by 1975, but Kelley still had that nucleus around to help propel the Wildcats to another excellent season. That year the team rolled to an 8-1 record, losing only to Andover, 73-72 in dual meet competition. There would be another memorable moment that Kelley figures cost the Wildcats a second victory over the Golden Warriors.

"McCully was running the 120 yard low hurdles, and he hit the first hurdle. He hit it so hard that it flew up in the air and hit Gerry Stabile from Andover in the lane next to him. He finished second.

Everything doesn't always go right in a track meet, since there are so many different things going on. McCully was still leading going into the third hurdle, in spite of it all. It threw his timing off." Wilmington did manage to win the Class C Meet again, so Kelley was more than satisfied. McCully's high school track career reached a high point in this meet when he ran a record 19 seconds flat in the 180 yard low hurdles.

It wasn't until 1986 that a Kelley spring track team came close to matching those seasons of 1974-75. The 1986 team had some fine athletes that included Frank Dinsmore and Chris Athanasia along with Eric and Kevin Cripianuk.

"Victory is always more pleasant than defeat, but I still remember things that I did 14, 24, 34 years ago that could have helped us to get a win. But, then again, I probably won some meets that I probably had no business winning." McCully remembers that his WHS teams had left behind a history-making victory in 1974. These Wildcats had indeed taken care of business.

"Those Andover teams of the early 1970's had beaten us so badly (in 1972 and 1973) that it was hard to imagine that we actually had a shot at beating them in 1974. It really took a great effort from all of our guys to keep the score close. We were behind by that one point entering that last event, but our mile relay team won the race and clinched the meet. Carrying Mr. Kelley off that field was a special moment for us and for him. He truly deserved it."

"Often I don't expect anything-then I'm pleased when it happens," says Kelley.

Back in 1974, in the face of some ramped-up expectations based on some quality athletes, Kelley's Wildcats came through with a win for the ages.

WHS Baseball team announces award winners

Last week the WHS Sports Award Winners were listed in the Town Crier and at the time the baseball program hadn't announced its winners. Here they are from head coach Aldo Cairn.

MVP - Co winners, Nick Boutoures (.348 batting average) and Michael Murphy (.311 batting average)
MVP - JV - Dalton Rolli
MVP - Freshmen - Dan Pendenza
Coaches Award - Evan Butters

10th Player Award - Bryan Fennelly. Bryan was told at the beginning of the year that he was kind of low man on the depth chart and that we couldn't promise him much playing time. To his credit he still wanted to be part of the team. His hard work in practice not only paid off for him but for us as a team too. Jeff Harris went down with an injury and Bryan filled in for him without us missing a beat. When Harris was in the line-up Bryan also helped us out as a third baseman, short stop, outfielder and he even pitched a scoreless inning for us. The perfect award for the perfect 10th Player.

Rookie of the Year - Cole Pepper, Sophomore. Cole was called up after three games to take Murphy's place at first base and never gave it up. He had two home runs including the game winning hit at Wakefield. Also had the game winning hit at Wakefield, his first varsity game, and 4 RBI. He also made the catch of the year in that game. He led the team in RBI with 15.

Defensive Web Gem - Cole Pepper for the foul ball catch that ran him into the dugout at Wakefield.

Offensive Web Gem - Brett Meuse for the game tying home run vs Tewksbury in the bottom of the seventh with two outs and two strikes on him, off of Luppi.

Sliver Slugger - Vinny Scifo .405 batting average. Led the team in hits with 32, runs with 19 and stolen bases with 12.

Gold Glove - Brett Meuse. Led the team in Putouts with 151 and had 15 assists and a .971 fielding percentage. Best game was the 1-0 loss at Masco when he threw out three runners in the first three innings, they stopped running after that!

Cy Young Award - Nick Boutoures. Six games started 4-1, 38.1 IP, 49 K's, 22 W's, 3.49 ERA, opponents hit just .236 off of him. Had a 13 strike out game (in 5 innings) vs North Reading and a 10 strike out game vs Lynnfield (also hit two home runs in that game). He also was the winning pitcher in the state tournament game that we won.

Fireman of the Year - Sean Hanley. Seven games in relief, 3-0 with 2 saves, 18.1 IP, 11 K's, 6 W's and a 0.00 ERA. He did let up four runs but they were all unearned. Saves were against North Reading and Winchester. He beat Amesbury, Pentucket and Tewksbury. All three games were in extra innings.

Letter to the Sports Editor Pan Mass Bike Ride raises $15,000

Dear Jamie:
We would like to thank the Wilmington community and everyone involved in the Pan-Mass Challenge Kids-Wilmington Bike Ride held on Sunday, June 6. With the help of nearly 40 volunteers, made up of Wilmington teachers, members of the WHS Girls Soccer Team and members of the Andover High School Girls Field Hockey Team, and other people from the Wilmington community, the ride ran smoothly despite some wet weather.
Special thanks go out to the Wilmington Police Department, the Wilmington Kiwanis Club, Boutwell School Custodians Dave Elliott and Bob Woodland, and DJs Carl, Matt, and Zach Toto, for making the day fun and safe.
The children who rode in the event helped us reach our goal of raising $15,000 which will be donated to the Pan-Mass Challenge organization to benefit the Dana Farber Cancer Institute and Jimmy Fund. Donations can still be made to support the ride by going to kids.pmc.org/wilmington. Our sincere thanks to everyone who played a part in making this year's ride a huge success!
With appreciation, Sue Hendee and Carolyn Priem Coordinators, Pan-Mass Challenge Kids-Wilmington Bike Ride

WHS Sub-Varsity Sports Round-Up

Mike Maloney, said the players improved throughout every week this season.

"As a team we seemed to get better with every game and practice," said Maloney, who has been coaching the WHS freshmen softball team for three seasons. That is a testament to the work ethic and drive the players on the team had.

"The players on this team really loved to play and come to practice every day. They worked hard to get better and loved to win. They were a phenomenal group to have the privilege to coach."

Lauren McKenna led the team in batting and made several tremendous plays at first base throughout the season. Meghan Howland was as reliable as it gets as pitcher this year. She started thirteen of fourteen games for the Wildcats and pitched in all fourteen.

Alex Derian started as catcher for Wilmington and was also played fantastic defense throughout the season. Allie Gemellaro played shortstop for Wilmington and was terrific all season.

Kelsey Mangan and Jackie Duffy were the team's one and two hitters and got on base all year.

"Once they got on base they caused havoc for the opposing teams racking up many stolen bases each," said Maloney about Mangan and Duffy. "They both also provided great defense in the infield."

Christina Riley, Sara Pudvelis, Kelly Valletta, Kayla Falter, Missy Tonra, and Scarlett Salerno all played outfield for the Wildcats this season and all had huge hits and made great plays throughout every game.

Katie MacDougall returned about half way through the season after a tough injury and became a spark for the success Wilmington had down the stretch. She played great defense and had a several extra base hits.

Maloney said the season was filled with memorable moments.

"Some of the best moments of the season included a grand slam by Alex against North Andover, a spectacular catch in right field by Scarlett, and Meghan coming in against Masco to get the final six batters in a row to preserve the victory," said Maloney. "The most impressive feat of the year was the 11 assists Allie had versus Lynnfield."

The Wildcats had many great victories this season, but none were as big as their win against Shawsheen Tech.

"Shawsheen had beaten us in our first game of the year and we were able to redeem that loss in a real well-played game," said Maloney. "They had a terrific pitcher but we were able to settle down and get some runs across the plate."

"Meghan pitched terrific and we were led offensively by Kelsey's speed and a big triple by Katie. We also beat Tewksbury twice, which is always a good thing."

JV Baseball

The WHS JV boys' baseball team has been very successful over the last four seasons. The team finished 14-4 in 2007, 12-7 in 2008, 15-4 and 2009 and wrapped up this season with a record of 14-6.

Anthony Altieri has been the coach of the JV squad for seven seasons and he said the team was tremendous.

"They never quit, and they came from behind to win several times during the final two weeks of the season," said Altieri. "The biggest comeback was against Newburyport as they were down 5-0 in the fifth and came back to win 7-6 in extra innings."

For Wilmington, Steve Dellepelle and Mike Ciampa pitched great all season. Dalton Rolli was the team's top hitter and did an outstanding job catching.

Dave Mello was a tremendous outfielder and got many hits for the Wildcats this season. Phil Lentini was an excellent infielder and a great hitter.

Wilmington's best games of the season came when they won against two undefeated teams - Triton and Pentucket.

Freshmen Baseball

The future is bright for the Wilmington High school boys' baseball program. The freshmen squad finished the season with a record of 7-6-1 as the team consisted of many hard-working and talented players. Four of the six losses were by two or fewer runs which shows how competitive the team was in the difficult league.

Pitching began as a trouble area for the team as they gave up 27 runs in the first three games. However starters Daniel Pendenza, James Wilkinson, and Tim Woods really improved as the season progressed.

Wilkinson threw a one hitter in a 4-0 win over Amesbury during the season as he only allowed an infield single in the first inning.

Offensively, Pendenza led the way hitting .471 and driving in 18 runs. Woods was also very solid batting .394 and scoring a team high 12 runs.

Steve Halas did a good job batting leadoff getting on base at a .395 clip and stealing a team high 16 bases and also scoring 11 runs. Other major contributors were Wilkinson, Cam Owens, Pat Barry, Matt Pickett, and Colin Doherty.

Michael Jones was the coach of the Wildcats this season, and he said he had a great time coaching the club.

"What I enjoyed most about coaching this team was watching them develop as ball players," said Jones, who has been coach of the freshmen team for two seasons. "Leaving tryouts I felt this team had a lot of raw talent and potential. My job was to try to harness this talent and help develop the intellect and intricacies necessary for a varsity baseball player. For me that's the exciting and rewarding part of coaching at the freshmen level."

The team's best game of the season was a game against Pentucket. It was a real back in fourth game in which everyone contributed but the Wildcats came out on top.

"They worked hard in all facets of the game," said Jones. "This tone was set in the very first two at bats by Halas and Barry. Halas worked a leadoff walk, stole second and when Barry bunted to get him over to third Halas kept going and scored on a catcher vacated home plate."

Correction

In last week's Town Crier edition, there was a story written about the Shawsheen Tech Boys Lacrosse team and in the story it listed the names of the league all-stars. Wilmington resident Frankie Meals, a junior, was omitted from that list and the Town Crier regrets the error.

Reaching new heights

Burlington man scales world's tallest mountain

By GORDON VINCENT

Tim Igo describes himself as "an ordinary IT guy by day," but his hobby is mountain climbing. And it's no mere avocation.

The 32-year-old Burlington resident has already scaled the tallest mountains on four continents, including Mount Everest.

Igo left for his trip up the 29,035-foot Everest - the world's tallest peak - in late March and returned on June 1. In the last 18 months, he's also climbed three other of the so-called "Seven Summits" in South America (Aconcagua; 22,831 feet), Africa (Mount Kilimanjaro; 19,563 feet), and Europe (Mount Elbrus; 18,481 feet).

"I've always been into the outdoors," said Igo, a 1995 graduate of Austin Prep. "But it's just been in the last couple of years that I've gotten into high-altitude climbing."

After graduating from Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Igo started hiking national parks and local areas like Mount Washington and Mount Monadnock in the White Mountains. His first major climb was Kilimanjaro in January 2009, followed by Elbrus later in the year. He had just come back from Aconcagua in Argentina in the spring when he got a call from a fellow climber who was planning a trip to Everest.

There was an opening in his friend's travel party with the Seattle-based International Mountain Guides after another climber got hurt, and Igo quickly accepted the invitation.

"It was really an anomaly," said Igo. "He (friend) was looking for someone with high-altitude experience on short notice."

An Everest climb is no small effort, even bureaucratically. Organizing a trip takes about nine months to a year. Just getting halfway across the world is an effort in itself, and then there is the climb. Mount Everest straddles the border between Nepal to the south and the Chinese-controlled region of Tibet to the north. Most climbers choose the Nepalese route, which was first used by Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay, a native Sherpa guide, in 1953.

"The Chinese can make it difficult," said Igo. "You have to get a permit to make an expedition, and there have been instances when the Chinese have pulled permits. Most people try to go to the south side, because it's a little more predictable."

"They are two very different-style climbs, and each of them has its own danger and risk," he added.

As of 2008, about 2,500 people had climbed to the top of Everest. According to National Geographic, 216 people have died while climbing Mount Everest, and the southeast ridge features a particularly treacherous stretch called the Khumbu Icefall, a glacier at 18,000 feet that often creates sudden crevasses with little or no warning.

"There are blocks of ice and shifting snow," said Igo. "And since the climb is at such a high altitude, it's very physically and mentally taxing. You're always thinking 'Is this ice going to shift underneath me?' or 'Is this block of ice going to fall on me?'"

Climbers have to spend about two weeks at base camp getting acclimated to the altitude, since there is less oxygen. Igo's group consisted of about two dozen people, plus the Sherpa guides, who are skilled climbers and experts on the Everest terrain.

"The Sherpas are known as strong climbers, and they live at about 15,000 feet," said Igo. "Their culture is based on Buddhism and dates back to the Tibetans 1,000 years ago."

It's really the perfect culture for mountain climbing."

Once the acclimation to the altitude is complete, the trek itself takes about 10 days and is accomplished in rotations, with about a half-dozen climbers and two guides making it to the top at a time.

"It's slow, because you need to rest," said Igo. "The lack of oxygen at the high altitude really taxes your body."

Most climbers used bottled oxygen for the trip. An Everest climb without supplemental oxygen wasn't accomplished until 1978, or about 25 years after Hillary and Norgay first made it up the mountain.

The most harrowing moment for Igo was at about 26,000 feet when his oxygen regulator became unsecured and he nearly ran out of oxygen.

"It was risky," he said. "You can make it for about a half-hour or an hour without oxygen, but you don't want to panic when you're in that situation."

Igo had planned to travel to Alaska to climb Mount McKinley - the highest peak in North America - this month, Igo to S-4

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"The Karate Kid" a feel good movie

"THE KARATE KID" is a remake of the 1984 movie. It stars Jackie Chan (Mr. Han) and Jaden Smith (Dre). Mr. Han is a maintenance man who befriends Dre. He is also secretly a master of kung fu and teaches Dre the art. The feel good ending is expected, but still inspirational.

"THE KARATE KID"
GRADE: ***

Did the world need a remake of 1984's 'The Karate Kid'? Not really. Is it enjoyable nonetheless? Absolutely.

In Columbia Pictures' The Karate Kid, 12-year-old Dre Parker (Jaden Smith) could've been the most popular kid in Detroit, but his mother's (Taraji P. Henson) latest career move has landed him in China. Dre immediately falls for his classmate Mei Ying - and the feeling is mutual - but cultural differences make such a friendship impossible. Even worse, Dre's feelings make an enemy of the class bully, Cheng.

In the land of kung fu, Dre knows only a little karate, and Cheng puts "the karate kid" on the floor with ease. With no friends in a strange land, Dre has nowhere to turn but maintenance man Mr. Han (Jackie Chan), who is secretly a master of kung fu.

As Han teaches Dre that kung fu is not about punches and parries, but maturity and calm, Dre realizes that facing down the bullies will be the fight of his life.

This version of the classic underdog tale doesn't have a winning catchphrase like o 'wax on, wax off,' but it easily scores a knockout punch.

The film really takes off when Jackie Chan enters the picture. He smartly doesn't try to mimic Pat Morita's Mr. Miyagi and instead makes Han a completely different, but immensely entertaining character.

Jaden is athletic and charming at times, and hits some rough patches in his delivery of lines, but there are also times when he looks like his famous father.

The original 'Karate Kid' and this new version share some similarities, like the tournament, a maintenance man/karate instructor and tasks the child is assigned to do that actually help train him in the ways of karate, but this version also stands on its own much of the time.

The film, at a little over two hours and 13 minutes, is a fairly long run time for a movie geared more to a younger audience.

It's hard not to feel inspired at the end of this 'Karate Kid', even if the end result is obvious from the opening scene.

"GET HIM TO THE GREEK"
GRADE: ***

Okay, it's only early June, but 'Get Him to the Greek' is easily the funniest movie of the year thus far.

The movie reunites Jonah Hill and Russell Brand with 'Forgetting Sarah Marshall' director Nicholas Stoller in the story of a record company intern with two days to drag an uncooperative rock legend to Hollywood for a comeback concert. The comedy is the latest film from producer Judd Apatow (The 40-Year-Old Virgin, Knocked Up, Funny People).

Aaron Greenberg (Hill) gets things done. The ambitious 23-year-old has exaggerated his way into a dream job just in time for a career-making assignment. His mission: Fly to London and escort a rock god to L.A.'s Greek Theatre for the first-stop on a $100-million tour. His warning: Turn your back on him at your own peril. British rocker Aldous Snow (Brand, reprising his role in 'Forgetting Sarah Marshall') is both a brilliant musician and walking poster man for sex addiction.

Weary of yes men and piles of money, the former front man is searching for the meaning of life, with a few parties along the way. When he learns his true love is in California, Aldous makes it his quest to win her back before embarking on world domination once again.

As the countdown to the concert begins, one intern must navigate a minefield of London drug smuggles, New York City brawls and Vegas lap dances to deliver Snow to the Greek safe and sound.

Get Him to the Greek is laugh-out-loud hilarious, and follows the now familiar but thoroughly enjoyable Apatow film formula for success of shockingly crude vulgarity and equally shocking sentimentality.

The entire cast is a delight, and the use of real celebs and news personalities (the film packs the first 10 minutes with more cameos than a Celtics/Lakers game at the Staples Center) is a great diversion. Brand is very funny once again as Snow, but the film's surprise show stealer is Sean Combs aka P. Diddy, who absolutely runs away with every scene he's in, playing an exaggerated version of himself.

"SEX AND THE CITY 2"
GRADE: *

Okay girls - the party's over. Time to consider staying in on weekends.

Sex And The City 2 reunites the cast of the hit TV series once again, but why?

According to a studio press release, "The fun, the fashion, the friendship: 'Sex and the City 2' brings it all back and more as Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker), Samantha (Kim Cattrall), Charlotte (Kristin Davis) and Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) take another bite out of The Big Apple - and beyond - carrying on with their busy lives and loves in a sequel that truly sparkles."

Not quite. There's glitz. There's glamor. There's just no reason to revisit these characters again.

The plotline focuses on the age-old question that all soon-to-be-married couples wonder: What happens after you say "I do"?

As a way to get away from the little surprises life has doled out to them, the ladies embark on a glamorous, sun-drenched adventure that whisks the women away from New York to one of the most luxurious, exotic and vivid places on earth (the United Arab Emirates), where the party never ends and there's something mysterious around every corner.

It's an escape that comes exactly at the right moment for the four friends, who are finding themselves in - and fighting against - the traditional roles of marriage, motherhood and more.

The plot is super-thin, and the film itself, at 146 minutes, is way too long. Fans of the friends might get excited about the return of Carrie's old flame Aidan, but there isn't much else going on here.

Sex And The City 2 is a parade of exotic set pieces and high-fashion outfits, loosely stitched together to form some semblance of a plot.

Fans of the series would be far better off reliving the gals' glory days with a few past seasons on DVDs than attending this reunion.

NOW HEAR THIS IN BURLINGTON

With a public hearing continued until June 17, Murray Hills Incorporated recently updated the Burlington Planning Board on its application for the approval of a site plan proposal for a multi-family development consisting of 9 units on 1.4 acres of land located off Scott Avenue within the town center overlay district.

"Attorney Mark Vaughan of the local firm of Riemer & Braunstein, representing Murray Hills, Inc. informed the board that revisions to the initial Scott Avenue proposal of 13 multi-family town home units have been made, with the biggest revision focusing on the number of proposed home units which now stands at 9 as opposed to 13," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The goal of the revisions centralized on addressing the worries of the board and the residents," said Vaughan, noting other revisions to the proposal such as access to the site off of Skilton Lane and the density of the proposal ...

"The applicants reiterated that with these changes, they will not have to do any widening to any roads, and the proposal can basically live within the existing framework of the area without changing the complexion and character of the neighborhood.

"Vaughan made mention that the Route 3A Committee was 'pretty satisfied' in terms of meeting their recommendations and comments...

"The people are so disgusted with all the town home development in town," said an emotional and frustrated Bob Hagan. "I am really appalled that the board is letting this go as long as you have."

"Vaughan stated that the next step is to finalize the plans a little further, get in front of the Board of Appeals sometime in July and then come back to the Planning Board towards the end of July with a plan that will be ready for a vote.

"The Planning Board unanimously voted in favor of continuing the public hearing to June 17."

•JACQUI BARRETT (WOBBURN, MA), who won the NCAA championship in the shot put last weekend, was named to the ESPN The Magazine District I College Division All-Academic First Team, released Friday.

With the honor, Barrett is eligible for College Division Academic All-American honors - made up of Division II and III athletes - to be announced later this month. The teams are voted on by members of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).

The distinction is the latest of a slew of athletic and academic awards in what has been a dream season for Barrett. She won the NCAA championship on Saturday, May 29, when her school-record throw of 50 feet, 8.25 inches bested the remainder of the field.

The championship was the crescendo of four major titles this season for Barrett as she captured the New England championship - against throwers from all three NCAA divisions - on May 8 and set a meet record with a toss of 47' 9.25". She also won both the indoor (47' 7.25") and outdoor shot put at the Northeast-10 Conference championships.

Tabbed the East Region Field Athlete of the Year for both the indoor and outdoor seasons by the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCA), Barrett graduated with a 3.54 cumulative grade point average as a psychology major.

Barrett has been named to the USTFCCA All-Academic Team three times as well as the NE-10 All-Academic Teams on two occasions. On Apr. 27, she was named the recipient of the NE-10 Track & Field Scholar-Athlete Sport Excellence Award, presented to one student-athlete in each NE-10-sponsored sport.

Barrett is the daughter of Edward Barrett of Woburn, MA, and Carlene Strangeways of Woburn, MA.

Three men's lacrosse players were named to the east squad for the 2010 NEILA Turf East/West All-Star Game, while assistant coach Chris Lewis co-coached the team at Endicott College.

"It's always exciting to be on the field with the kids of that talent," said Lewis. "I'm honored Mike put me up for the spot and I'm looking forward to it. It's always nice when you get to coach three of your own guys one last time as well."

Lewis, who completed his third season as the assistant coach at Merrimack, will be joined by Brett Holm, the assistant coach for the Division III National Champions Tufts University.

Mark Webber (Mansfield, MA), Shane Mahar (Slingerlands, NY) and CORY SPINALE (WAKEFIELD, MA) will all represent the Warriors, who tied with Saint Anselm and Sacred Heart for the most selections to the annual game.

"It is great that the NEILA recognized Chris' efforts this year and how important he has been to the programs success over the past three years as well," said head coach Mike Morgan. "Having three of our players in the game and our head assistant coach is a great accomplishment for the program."

Webber, Mahar, and Spinale all graduated from Merrimack in May and were all-conference selections in their final season, guiding the Warriors to their second-ever Northeast-10 Championship.

•FRESHMAN LAUREN ALMEIDA (READING, MA) of Amherst College was recently named to the All-NESCAC Outdoor Track Team in the 4x800 Relay Event.

Lauren was also named the Amherst College Outstanding Performer for the NESCAC Championships. She came in 6th in the 1500 (4:47) and she also ran on the 4x800 Relay Team that placed 2nd with a time of 9:29.

•To wrap up the end of the year, the Gymnastics & More Junior Olympic and Prep Op teams competed in their final state meets. Some performed so well that they moved onto Regionals, Easterns and even Nationals.

On the weekend of March 26, Giguere's hosted the Level 8, 9, 10 and Prep Superior State Meet at South Community High School in Worcester. Level 7 and Prep Advanced States were held on April 17th weekend in Cape Cod. 360 Gymnastics hosted

ALYSSA PAPANTONAKIS, SECOND GRADER AND PREP ROOKIE* GYMNAST FROM READING, placed second on vault with a score of 8.5, and seventh on uneven bars with an 8.25.

The Gym & More Prep Rookie Team Placed 1st at States, Prep Advanced Placed 4th, Level 8 Team Placed 6th!

•The Little East Conference office handed out its annual men's lacrosse end of the season awards recently after each of the eight conference coaches sent in a ballot. Salem State College junior goalie Brendan Gill (Chelmsford, Mass.) was selected as the Defensive Player of the Year, while his counterpart at EASTERN CONNECTICUT STATE UNIVERSITY, FRESHMAN DONALD BERUBE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.), was honored as the Rookie of the Year. Keene State College earned two of the five major awards as sophomore attacker Griffin Meehan (Simsbury, Conn.) was named the Offensive Player of the Year and Mark Theriault was tabbed as the Coach of the Year. The University of Massachusetts Boston was awarded the inaugural Team Sportsmanship Award.

Berube is the fourth Eastern Connecticut player in program history to be honored as the top rookie. The Tewksbury, Mass. product is fifth in the conference circuit in saves per game (10.59), while ranking sixth in goals against average (10.68) and save percentage (.529). A starter in 16 of his 17 appearances, Berube earned his first collegiate victory against Montclair State on March 12. He limited his opposition to seven or fewer markers six times, including a season-low three against Plymouth State. Berube was consistent between the posts for the Warriors, registering at least 10 saves 10 times. He turned aside a season-high 16 against UMass Dartmouth.

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The Celtics lost two playoff games en route to the 1960-61 title, beating St. Louis 4-1 in the finals.

but family considerations became a factor and he decided not to make the trip.

"I'd been on the road since March, and my wife really didn't want me going on another trip right away," he said.

Igo has returned to his day job in information technology sales for the time being, but he's still got the climbing bug in him.

"It's challenging and exciting," said Igo, of mountain climbing. "There's danger and risk, but when you've accomplished a high-altitude climb, there's no better feeling."

Men's health

Did you know?

While genetics and external factors beyond a man's control play a role in overall fitness, the top threats to men's health are largely preventable. Leading the list are heart disease, cancer and unintentional injury.

While protection against unintentional injury can be difficult beyond taking standard safety precautions, the fight against heart disease and cancer is one men can fight far in advance of diagnosis. For example, maintaining a healthy diet and exercise routine can help keep men healthy.

In addition, reducing stress or learning ways in which to cope successfully with stress can make a big difference. Routine health visits also can identify potential health threats early on.

Victorian-
cottage
style
Callaway

The Callaway is a contemporary cottage with a country-Victorian flavor. The wooden posts and railings on its wide front porch give it that country-cottage look, while the intriguing arched window and scallop-shingled gable fronts add dashes of nostalgic Victorian flavor.

Families are sure to appreciate the multiplicity of amenities that the designers managed to fit into slightly less than 1400 square feet of living space.

Family gathering spaces fill the left side; private rooms are on the right. The vaulted living room has one wide window in the front, and two slender windows on the side. The ceiling height drops and flattens toward the rear, where the living room transitions into the dining room.

Light spills into this bright space through wide windows at the side and a set of sliding glass doors at the rear that open onto a partially covered patio. Counters in the C-shaped kitchen are extended by a peninsula with a flush eating bar that bounds the dining room. Standing at the kitchen sink, you can keep an eye on activities in the back yard and on the patio.

A hallway just around the corner from the Callaway's kitchen leads to the bedrooms, bathrooms, and a pass-through utility room that links with the garage. Broom, linen, and coat closets line the hallway, and a bank of cabinets fills the wall over the washer and dryer.

The owners' suite has a vaulted ceiling that slopes
